A Matter of PERSPECTIVE

Ready to take on the new school year, students entered the building and brought their individual perspective to each situation.

Topping the list was the 2008 presidential race. Government classes held mock elections, and many seniors stepped up and registered to vote for the first time.

From the teenagers point of view two films were hot. The Dark Knight earned more than 995 million dollars since July 2008. In November Twilight, the movie, sent scores of PH students to the theaters to see if it could match the thrill of the book with the same name. The sales for opening night tallied to 75 million dollars nationwide.

Students and staff gained a new perspective of the game of football, as they were introduced to the female version. For the first time in school history, girls competed in Powder Puff Football.

For the incoming freshmen, graduation requirements were increased again. Freshmen need more credits than the sophomores, who need more credits than juniors and seniors.

Every student added a new perspective to the life of PHHS.

Clockwise: Nathan Babcock ('10), Danielle Herr ('10), Desmond Bivins ('10), Sarah Schoettle ('10), and Michelle Netter ('09) huddle up to show a different perspective in photography.

In a year of firsts, Phillip Gouin ('09) votes for the first African American President.

Like many others, senior Pamela Moutoux advertises for Twilight.

Fun! Fun! Fun! -- from Terrence Dean's ('11) perspective as he pies Ms. Barrett.

Millions of Perspectives

Fun and memories drove Big Red students to dance, smile, dress up, and dress down as they forged their own way to a full Student Life. With so many individual perspectives, every opportunity from summer vacation through the end of the year Prom brought the promise of lasting remembrances.

Students got their first opportunity of the year to build their spirit during Homecoming week. Participants dressed in unusual fashions and played underwater themed games. It also began the competition between the classes.

Hard workers met at secret locations to design the Underwater Enchantment floats which earned them their first set of points. The creations entertained all of the spectators along the parade route. The Games Assembly brought out the hard core senior competitors, who tagged, ran, and limboed their way to first place.

The week culminated with the elegant Homecoming Dance and the showcasing of the elected Homecoming Court. Seniors Christopher Tatti and Amber Davis were crowned King and Queen.

The Class of 2009 got together at the Seaway Terminal for the annual senior picture. After looking at it through the lens of the photographer's camera, the perspective was all wrong, and en-mass students headed to the anchor by the Blue Water Bridge.

Celebrating each break, students enthusiastically clicked away on cameras and camera phones to capture the fun. To share the experience, hundreds of photos made their way around the school.

If Homecoming dress-up wasn't enough, upperclassmen added more glitz at Prom. With a click of high heels and the fragrance of fresh flowers, girls floated into Alexander's for the Junior Prom or Fore Lakes for the Senior Prom on the arms of their dates. After ditching the typical jeans and t-shirts, upperclassmen spent plenty of time and money creating the perfect look—handsome tuxes and multi-colored gowns.

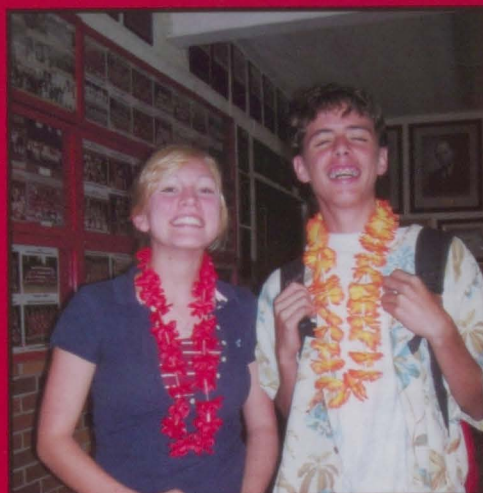

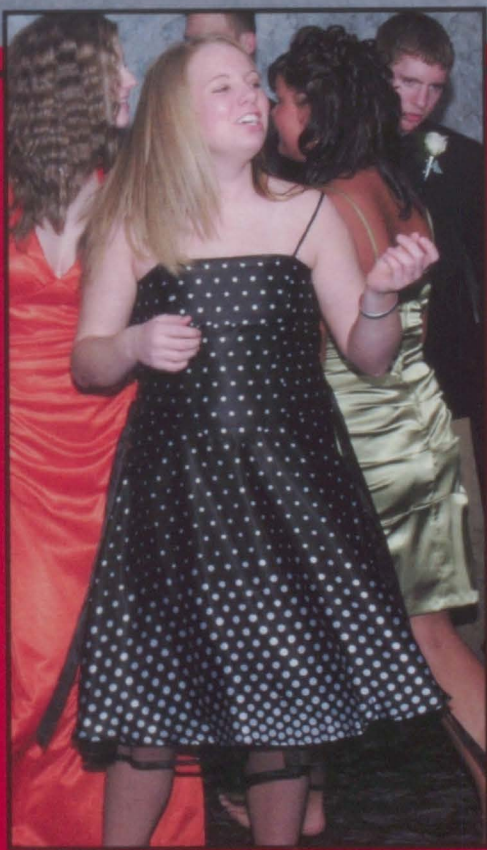

Mr. Alex Arceri gets sweet revenge on Melissa Delano ('09) after shoving a pie in her face as part of a fundraiser.

Myriah Fredendall ('10) and Ashley Peterson ('09) admire the scenery while in Germany.

During the Pep Assembly for the Northern game, the Varsity Football Team huddles up.

A Lifetime of Memories

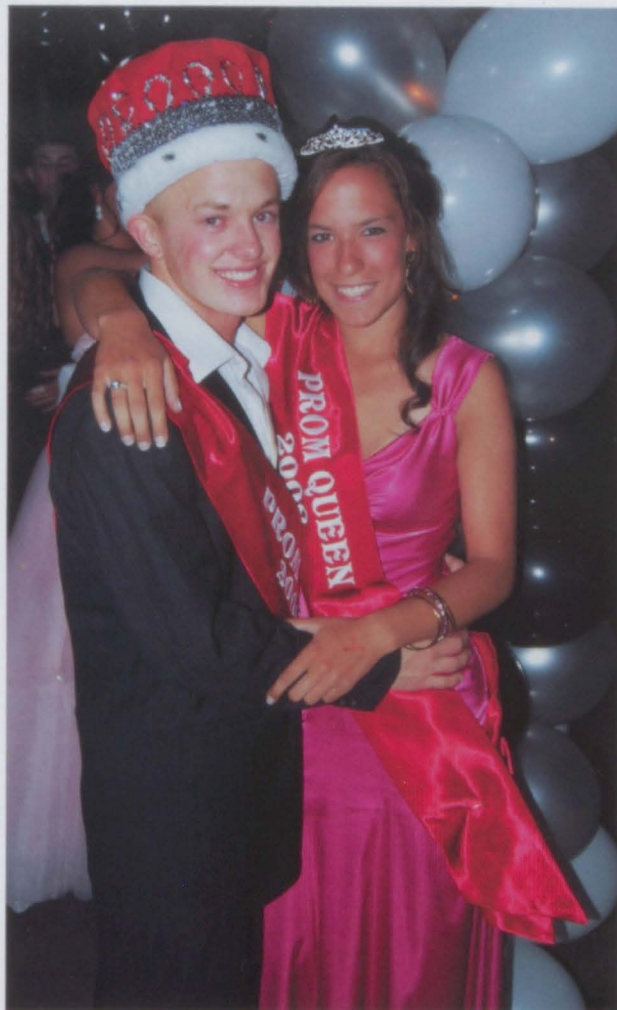

Balloons gleamed in the colored lights as the 2008 Prom began. Students lined up at the McMorran Junior Arena awaiting entry, with tickets in hand.

Women wore gowns of every length and color while most men flaunted classic tuxedos. Cameron Hagedon ('08) said, "Everybody looked so good...you could tell that the girls worked for hours getting ready."

The dance kicked off to a good start with the D.J. playing the year's most popular songs such as Please Don't Stop the Music by Rihanna and Lollipop by Lil' Wayne. The dance floor was flooded with students during both slow dances, and the Cha Cha Slide.

The prom theme was "A Night in the City", which was evident in the lavish decorations. A black city lit up with gold twinkle lights silhouetted the background as silver trees graced each table. For the seniors, it was a perfect ending to a great year.

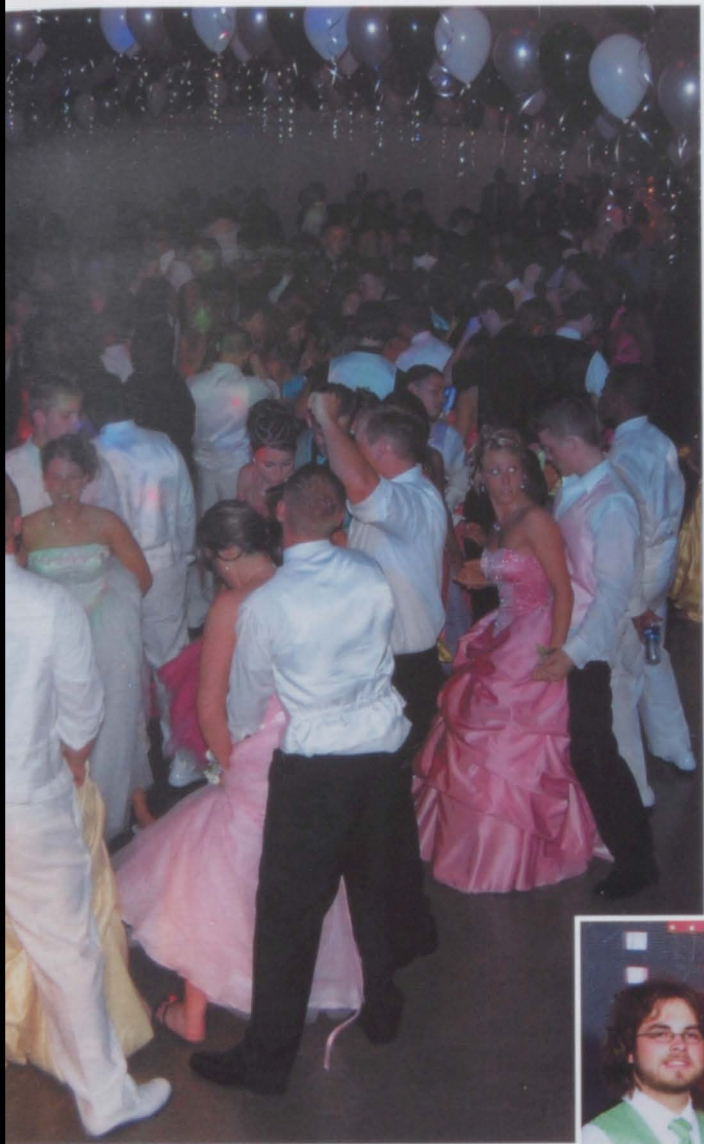

On their night out in the city seniors Kevin Johnson and Chelsey Bonney won prom King and Queen.

Through a veil of fog, 2008 flashed out parti-colored lights that stretched to the balloon arches.

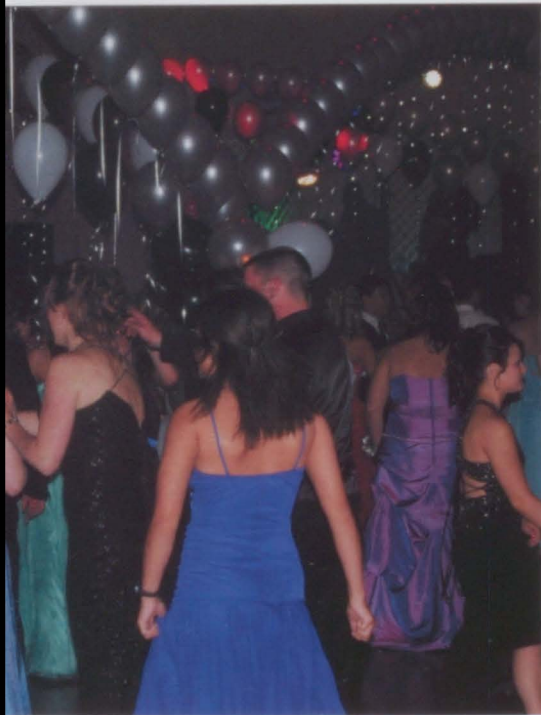

Before entering the McMorran Junior Arena, students get their tickets checked.

Dancing was and always has been the biggest part of prom. Parties boogied in style to a wide array of music.

Wearing shoes or not students still managed to sashay the night away and have a blast at their prom.

Fog machines were used to add to the theme "A Night in the City", while balloons glittered the sky.

Rainbow colors, varied gown lengths, formal attire, and snappy vests highlighted senior style at the prom.

2009 Graduates

"We've got spirit, we've got pride!, We're the class of 2009!" was what the seniors screamed and shouted on their way out the doors.

It was an amazing four years for the class of 2009. A lot happened during their time at PHHS.

Two things stood out during their Freshman year. The BRMM went all the way to New York. An unusual aspect of that year was the fact that Kirsten Jex and Megan Gilbert were the only two class officers.

During sophomore year there was an exciting Battle Of The Bands featuring Every Avenue. The same year the class won the Games Assembly for the first time. Maurice Livingston was the class president during that year.

Junior year was a blast! Something special for the class was the first time in more than 20 years for having a junior prom. The theme was "A Black Tie Affair." For the first time during their high school years, the Varsity football team had a winning season. Once again the class of '09 won the Games Assembly. Brittanie Ealy class president.

Anne Russ was the 2009 class president while Amber Davis and Christopher Tatti got the opportunity to be crowned King and Queen for the 2008 Homecoming, with a theme of Underwater Enchantment. The seniors took first place for their float "Finding Nemo," for the first time in four years.

"This year will have been one of the most eventful graduating years yet," Reyelle Brown stated.

The senior picture was taken at the Blue Water Bridge near the downtown area, it consisted of most of the 403 members of the 2009 senior class.

A new tradition was started this year at PHHS, which was the Powder Puff Football Game, with seniors victorious. To finish the streak they won the Games Assembly for the third year in a row, and also took over the Pep Jug.

The 2009 class also got to be a part of the most memorable, history making event, the election of Barack Obama, the first African American president of the United States.

"Senior year was fun and I will never forget all of the memories I made in the halls of PHHS," said Durrand Ashford.

The senior class of 2009 gathered for a remembrance photo on November 2, 2008 to be featured in the halls of PHHS for years to come.

Senior Picture

A Black Tie Affair

Music shook the walls as once again, the Class of 2009 broke traditions. For the first time since the 1960s, PHHS held a Junior Prom. The event took place on March 15, 2008 at Alexander's in Marysville.

Tables were decorated with black napkins, and accented with candle lit vases, as Black Tie Affair was the chosen theme for the night.

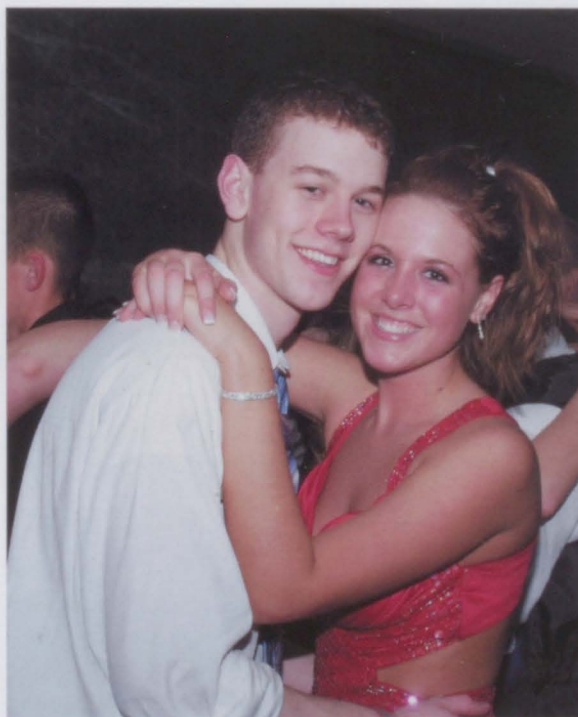

Guests were entertained to the delightful sounds of their favorite music from the D.J.s Lee Peart and Jason Peart.

A hit of the night was Cotton Eyed Joe. The song was repeated several times--each time faster and faster.

The evening was not complete without sweet treats for the guests. A large fondue fountain adorned a round table, and was complemented with snacks for dipping.

According to Timothy Bartlett ('09), "Danielle McFadden ('09) was the best dressed of the night."

Joshua Kesner ('08) and Rebecca Jackson ('09) keep to the beat while enjoying the music.

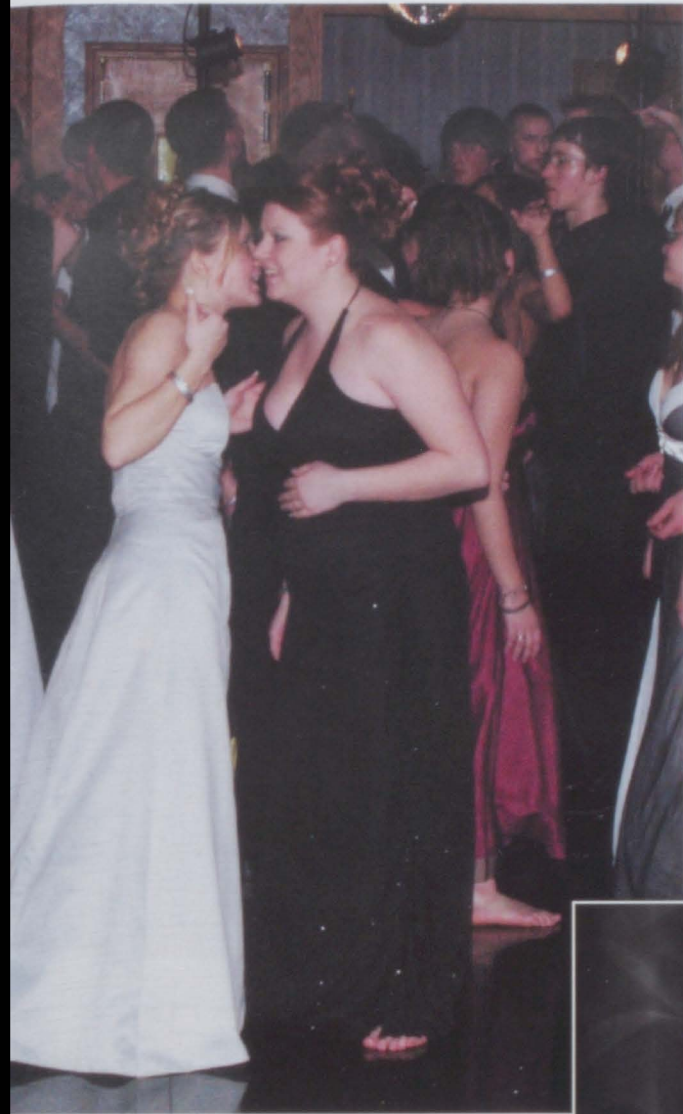

For hairstyles, many girls chose the classic look of curls that were pinned up, or simply worn down.

Adam McDonald and Emily Shinavier ('09) were one of many couples on the floor during the few slow songs.

Black and white were popular colors for dresses among the girls, as the theme was Black Tie Affair.

Nathaniel Jackson ('10), and Juniors Hayle Comtois, Lindsay Blake, and Shane Donaldson are all smiles.

When the music started, the guys were the first to take the dance floor, and were gradually joined by the girls.

Eric Bowden ('09), Heather Hillman ('09), Katrina Oberski ('09), and Jordan Cooper dance to a slow song.

Millie Takes the Stage

Lights, curtains, action, and the play was off to a great start. Drama Club's production was a fabulous double take of the famous play Thoroughly Modern Millie. With its spunky characters, outfits, and songs, the play was a hit.

The plot was mainly about a young Kansas girl, Millie Dillmount played by Cheyenne Bolt ('10), whose world is turned upside down when she moves to New York City. There she meets a young man Jimmy Smith [Kavik Bressette ('08)], who helps her with many obstacles.

Arthur Knisley ('08) commented, "Basically all the dancing and music made the play so unique."

They had 2-3 hour practices three times a week. Rotating buildings and a "beautiful painted backdrop also helped set this play apart from past plays," remarked Jordan Hagedon ('09).

"It was fun to be in the play. I was able to act like I was famous!" said Joi Price ('10) who played a singer, Muzzy.

Abbey Bates ('08) "Mrs. Flannery", and Cheyenne Bolt ('10), "Millie", argue on stage.

For the opening number, members of the cast dance and sing to Thoroughly Modern Millie.

Jordan Moncrief ('10) and Philip Vasquez ('10) break into an all Chinese song, Not for the Life of Me.

The "Priscilla Girls" read an important news article about girls being sold into slavery during the 1920's.

Cheyenne Bolt ('10), Millie Dillmount, is carried out by the boys during the opening number of the play.

Maggie Schneider ('09), one of the Priscilla Girls greets another Priscilla Girl played by Marissa Eagle ('10).

The band played the music Thoroughly Modern Millie from the pit below the stage.

Living the Fun Life

It was that time of year again when students traveled with family and friends, or hung out in the cool town of Port Huron.

Exploring the world from different angles was a key point on some students' agendas, as they went to amusement parks, Florida, and even foreign countries.

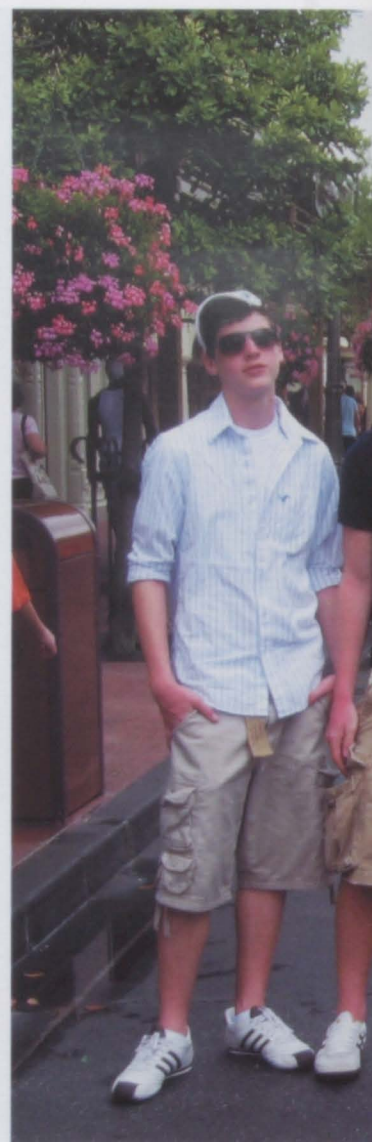

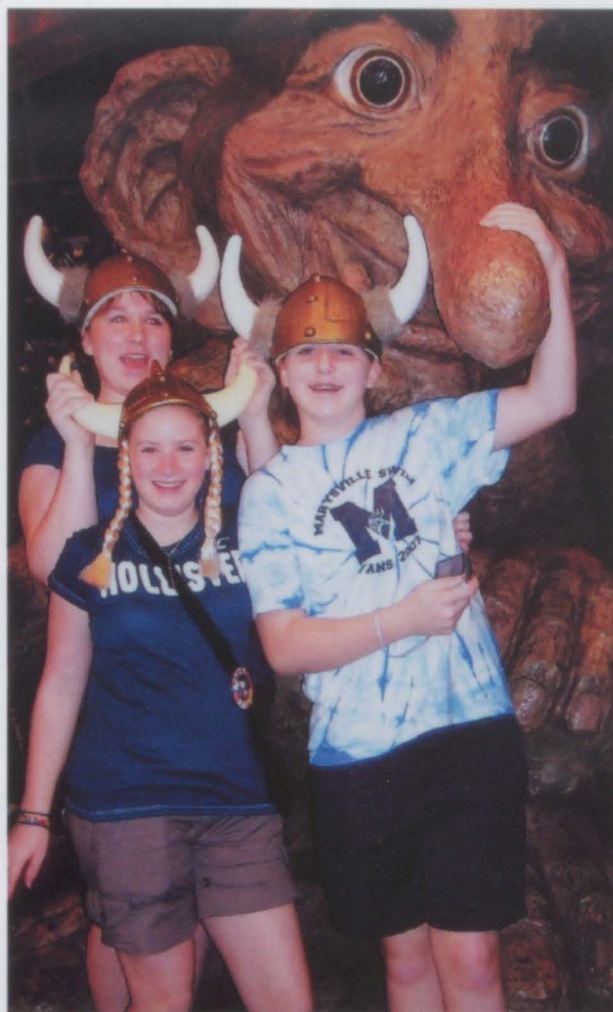

IPods charged, suitcases packed, and buses loaded, the 135 Big Red Marching Machine members were ready to spend roughly 24-hours on three fully loaded Coastal charter buses.

"Traveling to Florida with the band was so exciting and different," said Sabrina Visga ('09).

"I spent most of my spring break in Port Huron, I got to hang out with my friends at the mall, and even hung out with my mom," said Kelley Betten ('11).

Even though summer and spring brought relaxation and a break from learning, students were still excited to return to school and reconnect with friends.

At Disney's Epcot, Micaela McBride ('12) and her cousins take time to pose for a picture.

Juniors Justine Gosfinger, and Taylor Bruhns enjoy the warm weather in downtown Cozumel.

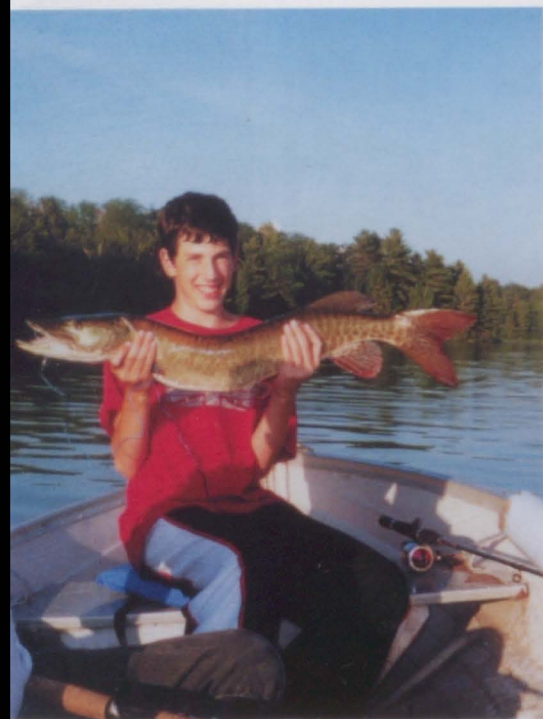

Enjoying the sun, Erin Forster, Lina Lu, Erica Starks, and Kimberley Zuehlke spend time at the Magic Kingdom.

During their spring vacation, Marching Machine Members shopped and ate on Main Street in the Magic Kingdom.

Enjoying the Florida sun on the coast of the Gulf of Mexico are various band and colorguard students.

Holding the catch of the day, James Yeagley ('10) shows off his Muskie during his summer vacation.

Showing off her playing skills for thousands of Disney World guests is euphonium player Elaina Fletcher ('10).

Is There Something Fishy?

Floating on Land

Spectators from neighboring elementary schools in the southend were enchanted with this year's Homecoming Parade.

The BRMM played "Only the Good Die Young" and the "Fight Song" to the audience as the parade marched on. Cheerleaders danced to music the band provided and energized the crowd. Mr. Harry Burgess and Mrs. Rose Burgess were chosen as this year's Parade Marshalls. Court members rode in classic cars while waving to the crowd.

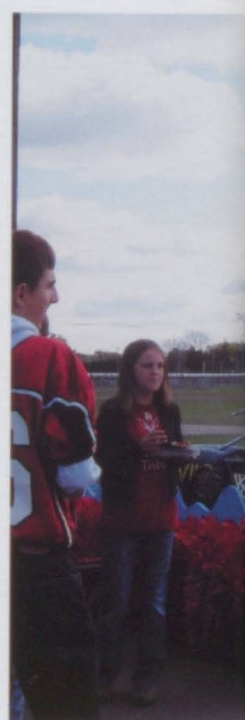

Seniors and juniors got the privilege of riding in trollies behind their floats. "Just Keep Winning", the senior float, and freshman's "Eat 'em Up" shared first place. The sophomore's earned third place with their float, "Zap 'Em" which represented the theme of Underwater Enchantment well with Spongebob. Juniors took last place with their sea monster float. Juliana Soye ('12) thought the floats were good because, "they put a lot of work into them."

The junior's creation holds its place in line while waiting to be judged by teachers.

With a top rated float, the freshmen took on the task of creating Frankie, the shark from Shark Tale.

Hitting every note, third year BRMM member Lindsey Moseley ('10), performs for the Homecoming Parade.

Senior's Finding Nemo themed float grabs children's attention at Woodrow Wilson Elementary.

Cheerleaders pumped up the crowd with energetic dance moves and complicated stunts during the parade.

With SpongeBob standing tall and Squidward enhancing the background, the sophomore float awaits judging.

Getting into formation, the trombone section was prepared to play for the eager audience at Roosevelt Elementary.

Homecoming Parade

Let The Games Begin

Spirit Week and Games Assembly took a deep plunge into an Under Water Enchantment.

Spirit Week started off with Deep Blue Sea Day; students dressed in blue.

Students went all out on Tuesday wearing Hawaiian style shirts and shorts, flower lei necklaces, and grass skirts.

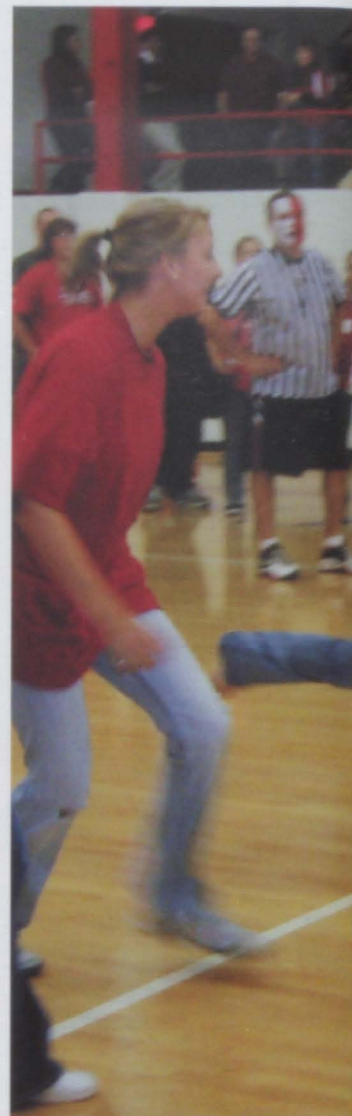

Wednesday was sent aside for Beach Day. Students wore sunglasses on their heads, flip flops, hats and beach jewelry.

The most popular day was Thursday's Sunny Day, when teens dressed in their brightest colored clothing, jewelry and shoes.

Big Red pride was at an all time high, as Friday kept things traditional with a Red and White Day.

At the Games Assembly Tug-A-War, Limbo, Rubber Chicken Volleyball and the Scuba Relay proved competitive. Overall the seniors took first place in the games.

Auston Riley ('12) makes his way across the gym to swap with his partner in the scuba relay.

Seniors Melissa Delano, Travis Mitchell and Ashley Collier pull their way to a victory over the freshmen and juniors.

For Hawaiian Day, Ryon Burrell ('12) and Tiana Nelson ('10) dress in orange to show their spirit on Tuesday.

Ellen Garrettson, Rebecca Jackson and Emily Day try their best to win chicken volleyball for the seniors.

With a close competitor, Marissa Eagle ('10) races to the other side to be first in the scuba relay race.

Freshman Samantha Harris had the honor of pieing Mr. Dan Griffith to raise money for the drumline.

Sophomores Shelby Conard, Nathan Mrozek, Taylor Johnston, and Zachary Dunham pull during Tug-Of-War.

Dance The Night Away

The fish were swimming in the ocean, and the students filed into the gymnasium for the 2008-09 Underwater Enchantment Homecoming Dance. "The dance was very fun and full of energy, and everyone looked good," said Aubrey Biga ('12).

With dancing, hanging out with friends, and eating cookies, the students enjoyed themselves. "I couldn't believe how much fun it was," says Patricia Koroly ('11), "They played great music, and had good cookies; it was a good opportunity to catch up with some of my old friends."

Queen Amber Davis ('09) said, "I enjoyed Homecoming this year, being on Court made the whole experience more exciting. The dance itself was a lot of fun and it was my favorite Homecoming by far."

At the end of the evening, students enjoyed one last dance, picked up their coats and purses, and went on their way knowing that Homecoming ended too soon.

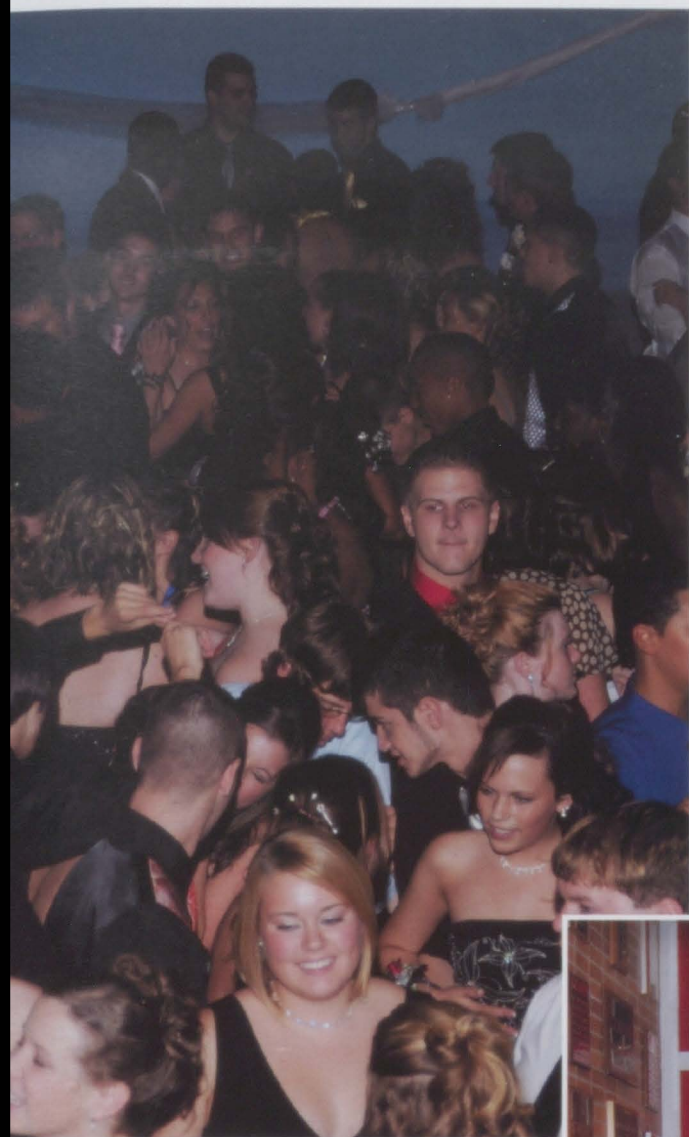

Janae Thibodeau ('11), and Kennita Ross ('10) show off their dancing skills, and enjoy the evening.

Freshmen Jacquelyn Breshmen and Courtney Harris along with senior Stephanie Meacham enjoy the festivities.

Showing off their beautiful gowns while dancing are Seniors Reyelle Brown, and Lindsay Henderson.

Colorful gowns, both long and short, were a popular hit to match the theme of Underwater Enchantment.

Enjoying the music are William Davies ('09), Dwain Phillips ('09), Jacy Bailey ('10), Alisha Parlin ('10), and Krista Visga ('10).

Can't Get Any Better

One of the greatest things about Port Huron High School is its diverse population, so everything that goes on is a matter of perspective.

Take friends for example; many students enjoyed their time at PHHS, but some say that they wouldn't have survived without friends. "I strongly believe that friendships helped me get through high school, because friends make it easier to sit through the long classes," said Jordan Hagedon ('09).

Through homework, drama, and extra curricular-activities, most students still found time for relationships, where they relied on their significant others. "I'm glad to know he's here for me whenever I need him, even if it isn't for support, I'm glad he's here," Jenna Page ('10) commented about her boyfriend.

Some students even admitted to dating their friends; sometimes it lasted and other times it didn't.

If friends were busy some students could turn to relatives within the school district. "My aunt, Tanya Ellick works here, and it feels good knowing that I can trust her and know that I'm not alone in school," said Marianna Prey ('09).

"It's fun to ride and go to school with my cousin, Amanda Suisse. Having a cousin in the same school makes the year go by quick. We share laughs and stories about the crazy days, and when times are crazy you always have someone special to turn to. The memories go on forever," said Katie Kitson ('10).

One program that required family cooperation happened to be driver's training. Many students took advantage of Michigan Driving School, located at PHHS. "It was very educational and fun learning to become a better driver, it really helped me," said Jennifer Senyk ('09). Drivers training wasn't always fun; "it was fun driving, but it scares me when I have to sit in the back seat when another student is driving," says Maurice Livingston ('09). Parents had to spend 60 frightening hours riding with unskilled drivers.

Winter Cheerleaders traveled to Ford Field in Detroit to work the Lions Store as a fundraiser.

During summer break, Port Huron High School students enjoy hanging out with friends and acting goofy.

Participating in building the giant sea monster for the Underwater Enchantment theme is Junior Ashlyne Ball.

BOTTOM RIGHT: With Mr. Reno refereeing, Betsy Vollmar ('11) does the limbo at the Games Assembly.

PHHS Friends

From walking the halls the first day of school freshman year, to marching across the stage at graduation, some people just click. Through the good days and the bad, fights and fun, friends have seen it all. The best of it is when it lasts all four years.

This is true for Sara Hawley and Cassie Dixon who have been friends since elementary school and share a love of cosmetology and have been in the TEC program since their junior year.

Friends since sixth grade

Becca~

You have continued to amaze us with your zest for life, determination and spirit. You have overcome many obstacles in your life so when you get the sit it out or dance- we hope you dance!

We love you!

Full of enthusiasm, Senior Allison May shows that those cool, white robes represent both academic success and temporary freedom--college or jobs follow.

We Got Spirit

We Got Pride

"We got spirit, we got pride, we're the class of 2009!" This year's graduating class had more spirit than ever as they entered the doors of PHHS for their final year.

From pep assemblies and dances, to athletics and clubs, seniors found a new perspective of the various pieces of high school.

No longer underclassmen, they had the experience in the Homecoming festivities, and came away with first place for the week. Most impressive for the members was the top finish for float building. It was also their turn for the king and queen elections, who went to Christopher Tatti ('09) and Amber Davis ('09).

In November seniors got an early taste of the commencement scenery, as they were measured for caps and gowns. Representatives from Balfour Michigan were on hand to take orders for the day.

To be eligible for graduation the ACT and MME were taken during the Junior year, and passing scores of all ones and twos on the MME brought the reward of exemption from exams and a $4000 scholarship.

When it came time for the Class of 2009 to march across the stage at McMorran Arena in June, seniors saw all their hard work pay off. The class saw three valedictorians take the top honors for graduation: Kaitlin Davis ('09), Katrina Ober-ski ('09), and Patrick Kostanecki ('09).

Although it was the end of their high school careers, it was just the beginning of the rest of their lives. For some this meant college, and others went directly into the work force.

Filled with pride and spirit, they were now the latest additions to the PHHS Alumni.

To avoid unwanted situations, attorney Michael Wendling talked to seniors.

For the Student Council Blood Drive, Matthew Tip-pie ('09) donates.

Or the End?

Performing with gutiers and drums, Kavik Bressette sings the senior class song The Adventure by Angels & Airwaves.

The Beginning...

From the day of freshman registration to their last day of high school, the class of 2008 held their heads high and overcame obstacles some thought to be impossible.

With the boom of the drum line and the roar of the Big Red Marching Machine playing the Fight Song, the senior class was led through the halls on their final day of high school.

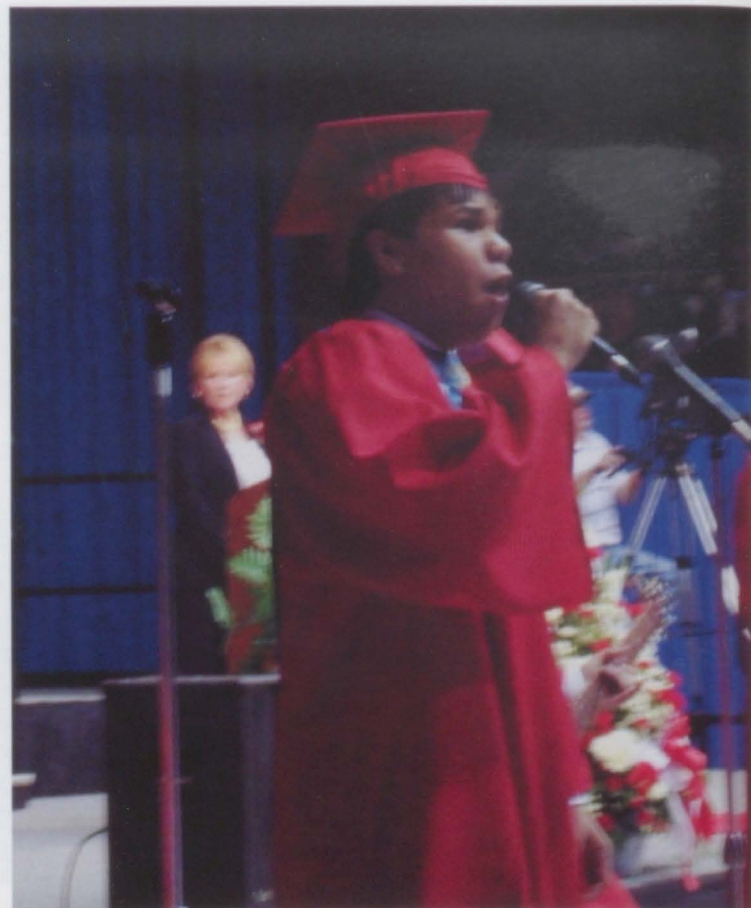

To follow would be four days of marching practice led by staff members, as seniors practiced marching in and out, in preparation of the annual Senior Assembly.

With the entire student body in the bleachers, the Class of '08 marched into the school gymnasium--each step with a thud-- to recognize their academic achievements over the last 4 years. The Valedictorians: Thomas Fielitz, Tiara Forsyth, Luke Privette and Travis Washington; and Salutatorians: Melissa Bailey, and Jeremy Davis gave their speeches. Then scholarships were awarded, and students with 3.5 GPA or higher were recognized. The Senior Class President Tiara Forsyth then passed down the gavel to the Junior Class President Anne Russ. The Alma Mater, Fight Song and class song The Adventure by Angels & Airwaves was performed.

Next would be Senior Prom held at McMorran Junior Arena in Port Huron. The seniors danced the night away at their final dance as high school students.

On June 4, 2008 the seniors marched into McMorran Arena, for Port Huron High's 140th Commencement. Seniors were called up by name to receive their diplomas.

After moving their tassels from left to right, the senior class tossed their diplomas and marched out ending their high school career, and starting a new stage of their life.

Caught in a net graduates play a game during their All-Night-Party.

Graduates Ashley Cuthbert and Kelsey Crockett enjoy the Senior All-Night Party.

Soon-to-be-graduates sing and clap to the PHHS Fight Song.

Seniors listen to PHASD Superintendent Mr. Thomas Shorkey give a speech.

Responsibility of

Class Officers

It was another election year. Although it didn't draw as much attention as the Obama/McCain race, it made a difference in Big Red Country.

Using a modified version of Obama's logo, Kaleb Fulk ran a successful campaign, "I thought I could help the office greatly," for the President of the class of 2012.

Class officers for 2009 took their positions. Class Historian Shelby Conard of the class of 2011 must "keep records of pictures for senior portfolio." For Molly Ford running for the office of Vice President was logical because "I'm organized enough to to get things done, and I have fun while working."

Junior Madelyn Harris said that the major item on the agenda at each meeting was fundraising.

Senior President Anne Russ started her duties at the 2008 Senior Assembly when she made a short speech as she accepted the gavel from last year's Co-presidents.

Assembly Themes and Fun!

Big Crowds

Bunch, cluster, and flock together for another chance to hear the noise. Big Reds partook in multiple gatherings of the multitude!

As the year began freshmen plunged into the first large conference--The Big Red Wave, learning rules expectations and opportunities. All grade levels had the good fortune to be part of class assemblies for the latest information.

The noise level dropped to a dignified whisper when students congregated in the decorated gym for the Honors Assembly to pay tribute to the school's 10th-12th grade scholars.

The band was ready. The guitar class was tuned. The choir was in voice. Performing Arts was prepared. Santa was on his way from the North Pole! Mother Nature had other ideas when she dumped eight inches of snow, canceling school and giving students and extended winter break.

Pomp and Circumstance were the watch words for the Senior Assembly in June. Scholarships and plaques were awarded, valedictorian and salutatorian speeches were delivered, the class president spoke and seniors costumed in school pride marched in perfect step exiting the gymnasium in their final red and white fanfare.

The eastern section of the gym was populated by half of the Freshman Class.

Standing tall the varsity Cheerleaders rev up the crowd.

At the Honors Assembly Michelle Netter ('09) and Shane Donaldson ('09) accept their awards.

The western side of the gym was home to the Junior Class during assemblies.

Being Big Reds for a Year

In Yearbook class, Isabella John ('09) proofs a spread with junior Calvin Lowe.

For an athletic activity, Hannah Bosseler ('09), from Germany, participated in the Girls' Golf team.

German exchange student Tobias Hauser ('09) runs for the Big Reds Cross Country team.

"I just wanted to meet new people and make new experiences in a new culture!" said Hannah Bosseler ('09), from Germany, on the reason she came to the US for an exchange year. Three other foreign exchange students had this idea, also.

In their new environment, they loved the atmosphere and the fun at sporting events. Finnish exchange student Iina Koskinen ('09) stated, "I also liked the school spirit and that everybody was so nice!"

The "new" Big Reds noticed big differences between PHHS and their school in their native country. "Most of the people are very nice and often friendlier than in Germany!" said Tobias Hauser ('09). "In Germany you also have different classes every day, but always with the same people and usually in the same room."

"I was a member of the Women's Ensemble and I had a lot of fun!" said Isabella John ('09) from Germany.

Unfortunately the school year was over and so was the exchange students' time at PHHS, but hopefully a small part of them would always say, "Let's Go Big Reds!"

Foreign Exchange Students. Isabella John (Germany), Hannah Bosseler (Germany), Iina Koskinen (Finland), and Tobias Hauser (Germany).

NHS and Girls Soccer member Iina Koskinen ('09) finishes her Spanish work.

Always a Big Red

Once a Big Red,

With 31 years of experience at PHHS, Mr. Kenneth Semelsberger has had the complete perspective of Big Red Country!

He joined the Big Red family as a physical education and science teacher in 1978, and continued with those positions for five years.

In 1983 he moved into the role of Athletic Director. He describes his job as "supervising over 900 athletic events, hiring officials for home contests, organizing buses for away contests, and hiring coaches."

Two years later in 1985 Mr. Semelsberger was promoted to Assistant Principal, while still holding the Athletic Director position. One of Mr. Semelsberger's favorite things about being an Assistant Principal was the "chance to watch students come in as awkward little kids and leave PHHS ready to face the world as young men and women."

Over the years Mr. Semelsberger has been honored with many awards. In 2001 he received Michigan Region 10 Athletic Director of the Year. He was named State of Michigan Athletic Director of the Year, and he was also finalist for the National Athletic Director of the Year in 2005. In October 2008, Mr. Semelsberger was inducted into Port Huron's Sports Hall of Fame.

In the year 2009, Mr. Kenneth Semelsberger will be ready for retirement, and has a full agenda. "I plan to travel as much as possible, I have a trip planned to Rome and Paris in March and Mexico in May."

Even though Mr. Semelsberger is leaving, he will never be forgotten; after all, "Once a Big Red Always a Big Red!"

At the PH vs. PHN football game, Mr. Ken Semelsberger accepts a gift as a token of appreciation from fellow administrators.

Underwater on Dry Land

The battle began two weeks before Homecoming. Freshmen, sophomores, juniors, and seniors all wanted to claim first place. In order to achieve this goal, students had to stick to the theme of Underwater Enchantment.

The locations of the floats were all different to keep the creations secret. The seniors held theirs in the Scene Shop, juniors were located at Kellie Taylor's house, sophomores were at Molly Ford's Grandmother's, and the freshmen held theirs at a warehouse.

Two weeks of hard work paid off for the freshmen and seniors. They claimed first place according to the judges. The freshman float was a shark from Shark Tales eating a Grosse Pointe South football player and featured the slogan "Eat 'em up." The seniors float was the Finding Nemo tank with the slogan "Just Keep Winning."

"I thought our float turned out really well, and we won, so I guess it was the best!" said Heather Hillman ('09).

The sophomores took third place with Spongebob aiming a trident at a Devil football player, and their slogan was "Zap 'em."

Taking fourth place were the juniors and their Sea Monster float. Jason Hoogerhyde said the best part about float building was, "getting to see and meet new people."

Lina Lu ('11) finishes painting the letters on Spongebob, and Catherand Thornsberry ('11) creates his belt.

Jason Hoogerhyde ('10) attaches chicken wire to the head of the Sea Monster.

For the juniors Cynthia Goble, Alisha Parlin, and Ashton Potter tie flowers.

Working on the float floor, the freshmen stuff plastic into the chicken wire.

For the last details, Seniors Steven Richards and Ashley Collier add the football.

A Changing Perspective

Greater Possibilities With

Early birds Brandy Hernandez ('12) and Brittany Hernandez ('09) have sister perspectives about homework.

Everyone has their own perspective about things. Academics is not any different. People had subjects they loved and some they disliked, but for each subject they learned something new.

The Big Red Wave started its second year as a freshmen mentoring program. Many of the incoming freshmen attended the program to get acquainted with the school. The Wave offered different sessions to familiarize the students with rules, expectations, and many other things. The mentors were assisted by pre-mentors, and gave the incoming freshmen advice and guidance. Freshmen participated in ice breakers to get to know one another. A Stereotypes Session gave students a deeper understanding of being biased against others. Juniors and seniors had the privilege and responsibility to be mentors while sophomores took on the task of being pre-mentors.

Mrs. Jody Catalanotte and Mrs. Laurel Groner were the advisors this year.

Sophomores and Juniors found their way through the crowded halls with expertise. The students expressed their point of view when they wrote papers and completed assignments in class. They gave their angle on topics in math classes.

Sophomores were still adjusting to the new graduation requirements. They learned something new every day in their classes and made new discoveries about PHHS.

The Math Department added a rule that required students to get at least a seventy percent on all tests with two retake opportunities.

Bitter sweet moments filled the seniors last year, between college applications, making life altering choices, and being the top class. Senior graduation was held at the McMorran Arena.

As the year concluded, most students' perspectives changed and grew. Some students tried new things, others expanded their knowledge base, and a few found a new passion for learning.

Earning The Grade

Doing projects or presentations help most students learn more about what they are studying in class. "Usually I just learn a little more about the subject that I chose to do, and I get a little more aware of what I'm dealing with," said Paige Lester ('11).

Some students said that doing projects made the subject or topic easier to remember than reading it out of a textbook. Tyler Thieke ('12) said, "I learn to do my work but have fun."

By having an array of classes, there's a huge variety of projects. In Mrs. Pam Brown's Art I class, students did a grid drawing, which taught them more about drawing and shading. "Doing projects in art are the most fun, because you can unwind and let your creativity flow," said Shauna Kovach ('11). In Mythology, Mr. Carl Mueller assigned an American Folklore project, allowing the class to research historical figures in America's past. Students in Mrs. Andrea Malachi-Wansedel's Economics class had the opportunity to design their own money for a fictional country.

When it comes to presentations, most students are hesitant to stand up in front of the class. "I like the projects because they are fun and imaginative, but I don't like presenting things," says Brianna Gibson ('10). Other students, however, are anxious to be up in front of the class and talk about what they've been working on. "I really like doing presentations because I enjoy talking and being in the spotlight," said Trevor Mann ('10).

Teachers & Students

Bubble Over

The sound of boiling water, the splash of solutions, the snap of a mouse-trap, and the adverse smell of Formalin brought students to the classrooms lickety split.

Teachers gave the students precise instructions to ensure that the experiments were done correctly and safety measures were taken.

"Safety was the most important thing about an experiment because you didn't want to hurt yourself or anyone else," said Kayla Porter ('09). Mr. Robert Weiss always told students to live by the phrase "Your neighbor is dangerous, so that students were especially careful," stated Jazmyn Thomas ('10).

Hands-on work was a big part of many science classes; for example, in Biology they not only did in class labs but they also did projects. In Anatomy they had a great learning experience when they dissected the cats; one of which was pregnant and gave the students an interesting surprise. "Experiments were a great way to learn. For April Ladd ('10) "You are right there--hands on doing the work."

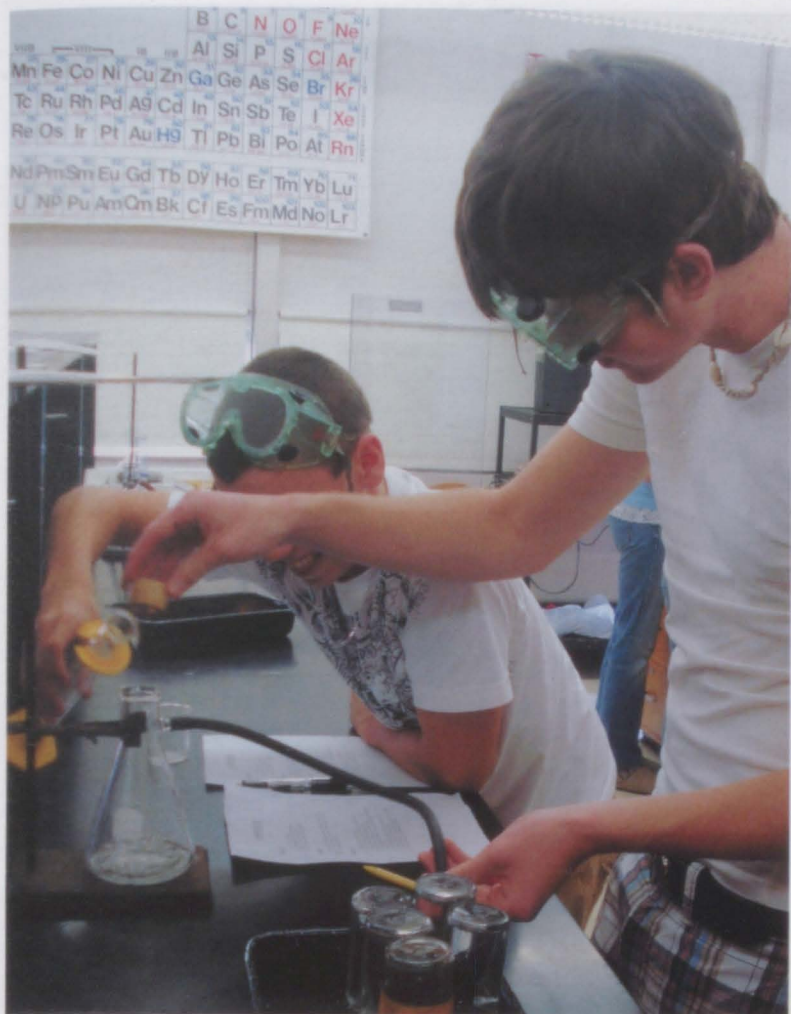

Even though experiments were fun, there was a small price to pay--lab reports, or write-ups were expected after the students worked with inventive experiments.

Exploding hydrogen balloons, Eco jars, and the dissecting of sheep eyes were a few labs that interested students so that they wanted to learn. Experiments were taken to a higher level in the classrooms, as students bubbled over with excitement.

Hydrogen is lighter than air, so it is held at the bottom of the jar while it is inverted. Nathan Babcock ('10) lights the hydrogen.

Timothy Bartlett ('09) is on the cutting edge while he concentrates on dissecting his cat that was given the name "Molly".

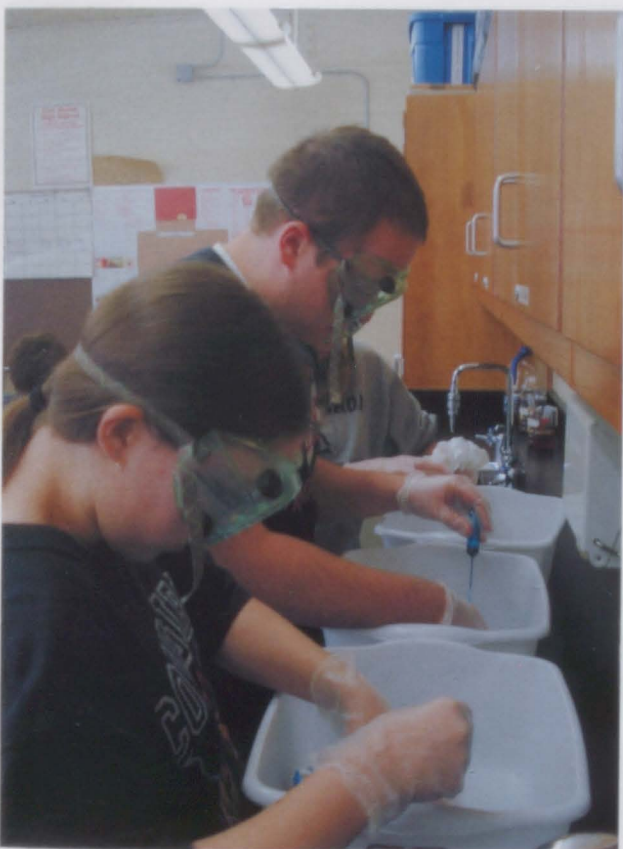

Hydrogen gas was made and collected in glass bottles. The hydrogen gas would then be lit on fire. Collecting hydrogen are Bradley Lynch ('10) and Aaron Swink ('10).

Keeping a watchful eye on this titration, Alyssa Bedard ('09) took the pH of the solution during AP Chemistry.

During Chemistry, Seniors Angeliea Griffin and Ashley McClellan collect Hydrogen gas for their lab project.

Students Michael Schoettle ('09) and Ashley Denman ('09) got the chance to tie-dye t-shirts in Mr. Weiss' sixth hour AP Chemistry class.

Getting right to work, sophomore Cory Lonsby researches his information on a Media Center computer to complete a project.

The Many Uses of the...

Media Center

Where's a good hangout? The Media Center! "I like all of the person to person contact," said Sara Reid ('09), which is exactly what happened in the busiest place in school.

The Media Center was normally full of students researching or checking out material. Students used the computers to do class projects. Mrs. Myers, had her classes research their family history and culture. "Finding out what my family crest looked like was cool," said Melissa Thomas ('12).

The Media Center was also staffed with student aides. Their jobs consisted of shelving books, cleaning, organizing and helping others look for books they wanted to check out. Some aides worked in the Tech Lab which helped maintain and fix computers.

"This place never sleeps," said Raymond Werth ('11) regarding the business of the Media Center.

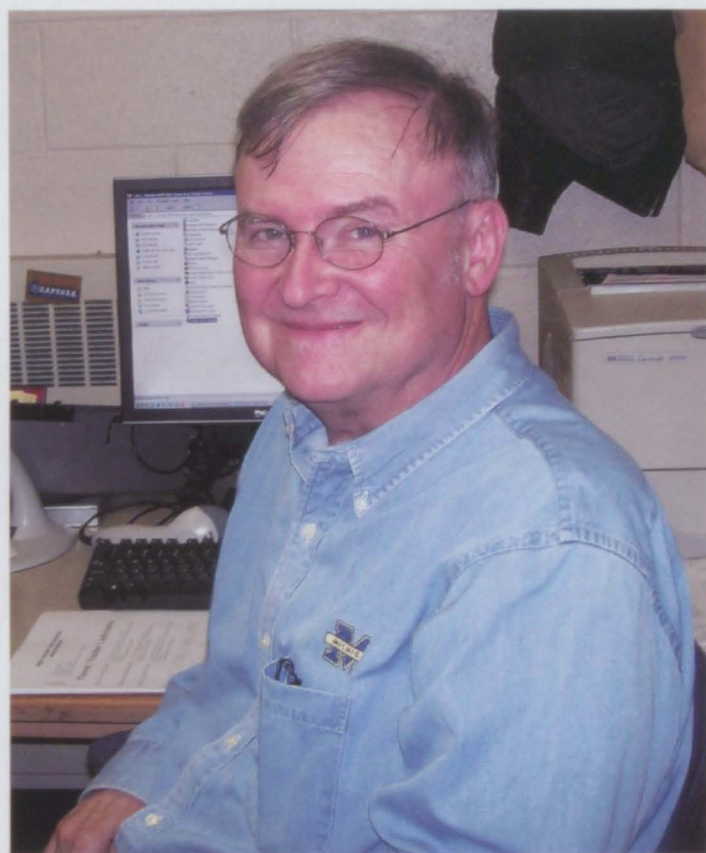

After school the Media Center was the place to be for student tutoring. "Sometimes all you need is a little extra help, and that's where the tutoring comes in," said Samantha Greer ('11).

The Media Center also had the Career Resource Center where students could receive help with college searches and future job placement info.

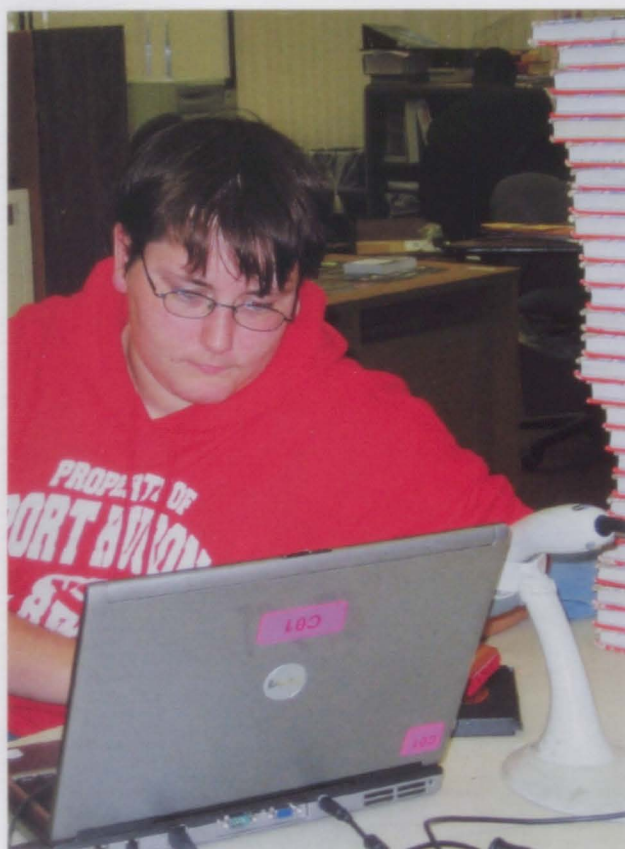

After eighteen years of service in our Media Center, Mr. Jeff McCabe's goal remained the same. "Increase the number of students finding reading materials."

Finding the right words, Brandon Lauderbaugh ('11) types up a class report for Mr. Meek's Physical Sciences course in the Media Center.

As one of his duties during the day, Mr. Jeff McCabe checks reports of student fines to send to the office.

With book in hand, Samantha Grinnell ('11) catches up on some reading in the Media Center.

Making sure materials are available, Media Center aide Constance Radatz ('09) is ready for students checking out books.

In the Spotlight

Behind the Scenes

Drawing in students of all types, shy or outgoing, the Performing Arts Class had its perks. The class learned how to speak in front of an audience correctly without being afraid. Krystal Swift ('10) said, "I've become more comfortable with speaking in front of a large group of people."

The third hour Performing Arts Class dramatized Odysseus in Gotham, written by former teacher Mrs. Maryann Foxlee. With the help and instruction of Ms. Denise McCaffrey, the class revamped the script, turning Odysseus into a soldier in the 1940's World War II.

The fifth hour class performed Twain By the Tale, a series of skits attributed to Mark Twain and his kind of humor, called satire.

On the days of these performances, teachers brought their students to the Performing Arts Center during their class period to see these plays come alive.

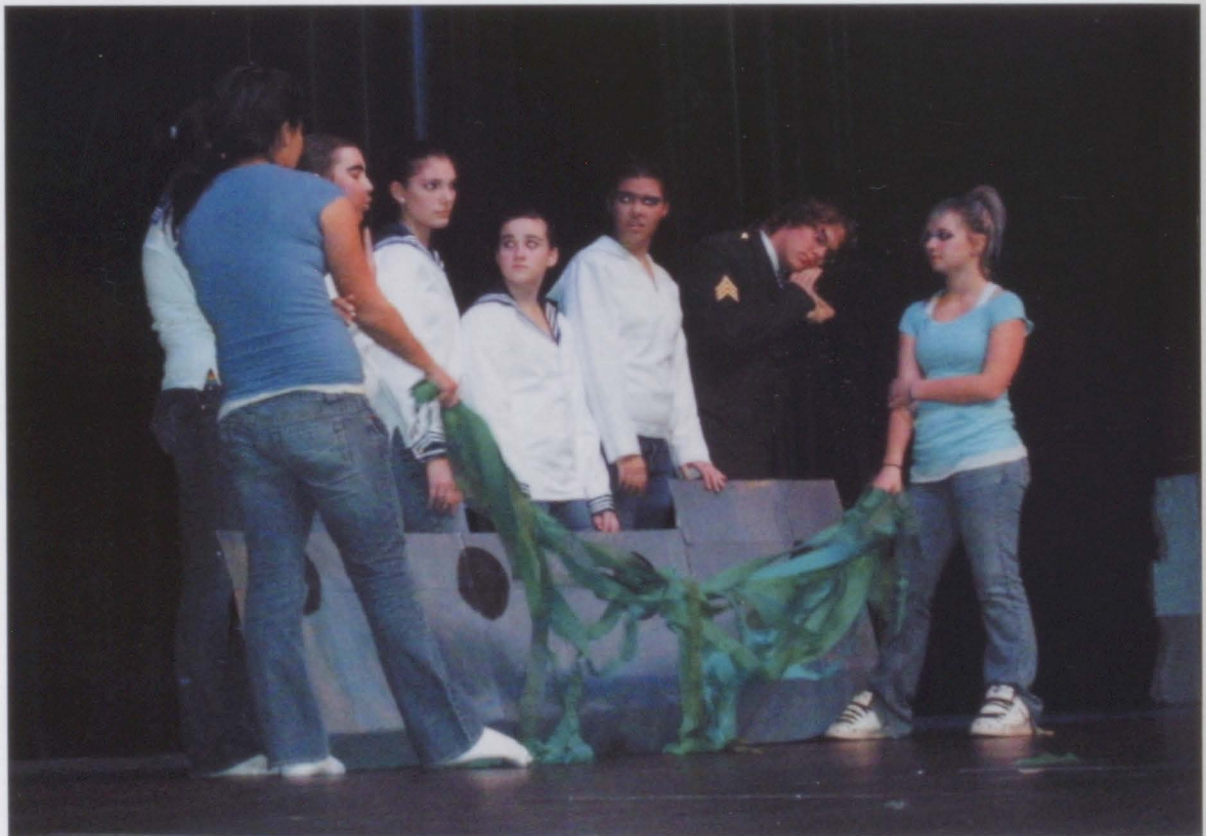

Some people confused the Performing Arts Class with Drama Club. Performing Arts is a course during school hours, where students wrote and performed their own plays. While Drama Club produced professional dramas along with the One Acts directed by seniors.

"I think Performing Arts is different from Drama Club because we don't have as much structure, and Ms. McCaffrey lets us do things our own way during the production of The Odyssey," said Kimberly Miller ('09).

The Lotus-Eater Queen, Lacey Jacobs ('12) invites Odysseus and his crew to taste the blossom, so they'll never want to leave.

While hero Odysseus sleeps, the crew thinks of ways to steal his bag of wind, which they believe is full of treasure.

Odysseys's wife Penelope, Ariana Strieter ('11) explains to Jeremy Ruiz ('10) how difficult life is without Odysseus.

As Odysseus, Kyle Dobbs ('09) tells his crew member about the next phase of their journey.

World Flavors

"Hello" and "Hola!"

"I think it is important to learn a foreign language because the world is much larger than the United States, and we need to learn other languages!" said Zachary Crumb ('10), who took his second Spanish Class this year.

PHHS offered two foreign languages this year, Spanish and German. "I chose to learn Spanish, because it's the most common language," stated Michael Hayosh ('10). Some other students also really liked the opportunity to learn a foreign language and a little bit about another culture. Learning a second language can help students to communicate if they travel to another country, or in their future career.

"I like to discover new words you've never heard about and understanding a foreign language," said Jacqueline Paul ('09). Jennifer Noble ('11) said, "It's cool to learn things about the German culture!"

Along with the new language, teachers also wanted students to learn the cultures and customs of the specific nation. Special events like the "Oktoberfest" in German class and the "Fiesta Day" in Spanish class were celebrated. Events like this allowed the students to see the differences between American and European customs up close and personal.

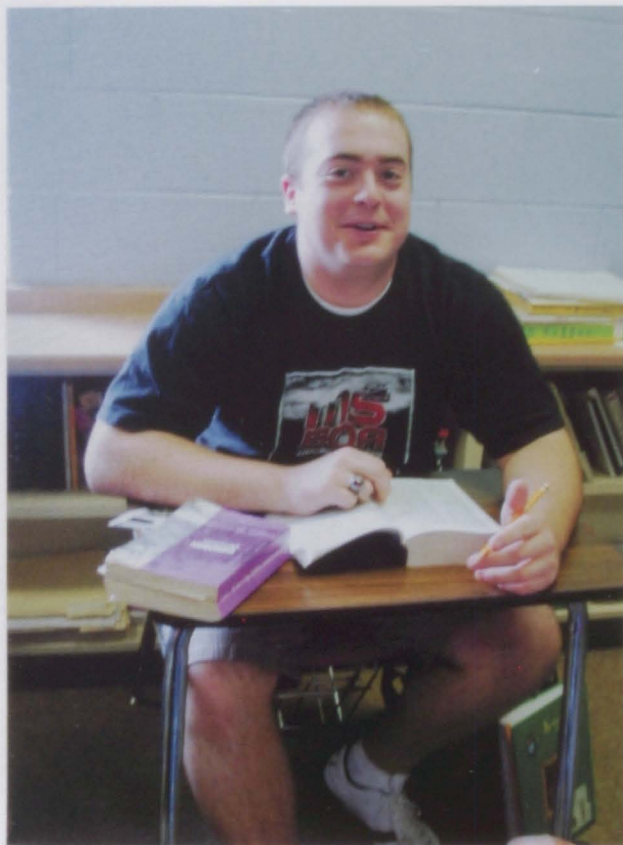

As another cultural experience, the students of this year's Spanish class got the chance to go on a restaurant trip to Xochimilco, where they sampled some authentic Mexican cuisine.

During sixth hour, Senior Amanda Dubay has fun while working on her assignment from the book in her second year German class.

Sampling her classmate's dish, Taylor Garza ('11) tastes the different items made for Fiesta Day.

Kyle Dobbs ('09), Bradley Koehn ('11), Rebecca Fugate ('09), and Tobias Hauser ('09) enjoy Xochimilco.

Michael Schoettle ('09) looks up the translation for a word in the German dictionary to finish his assignment in sixth hour.

Health and Physical Education

Shape our Lives

Ready, Set, Get Fit! Both Physical Education and Health share the common goal of trying to keep students healthy.

Health Class is one of the few places where students can learn about managing stress, the effect of drugs, family planning, and the many disorders people can develop.

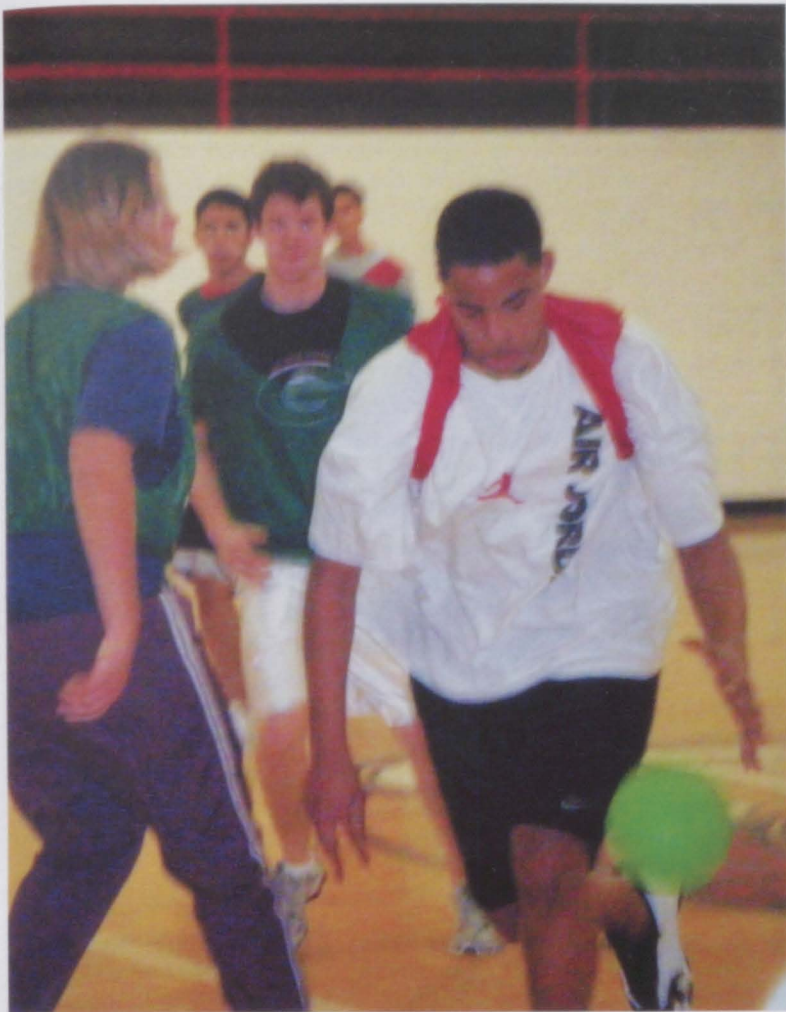

Chelsea Bookrum ('11) said, "I think that Health should be mandatory because if it opens other peoples' eyes to the world and different things like it did me, then they will love it."

Physical Education is dedicated to keeping the students in shape and teaching them healthy habits. Arika Achatz ('09) said, "I enjoy Weights and Aerobics because it gives me a daily workout and keeps me in shape."

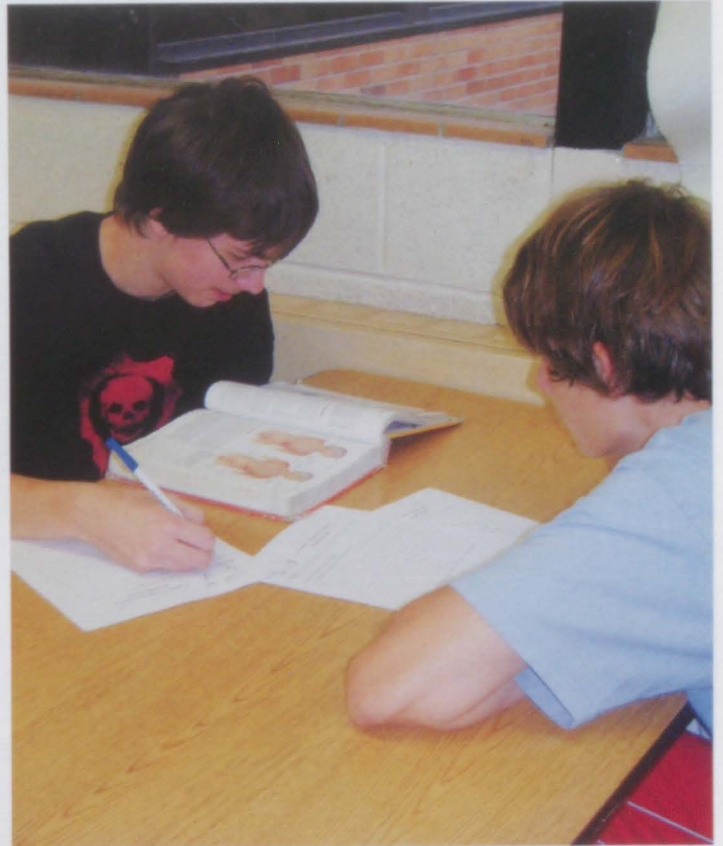

Students took gym for a variety of reasons, such as, staying fit and playing sports. William Carmichael ('11) said, "Weights and Conditioning is a good way to help me maintain my weight and stay feeling good about myself."

Many of the students seemed to enjoy the activities that took place in the class. Shelby Graham ('12) said, "The class is easy, fun, and very interactive." Various sports and other games are played in all of the gym classes, such as, basketball, softball, and tennis.

Students learned important facts and habits that they will carry with them for the rest of their lives, thanks to the lessons taught in these classes.

Be Our Guest

Visitors Arrive

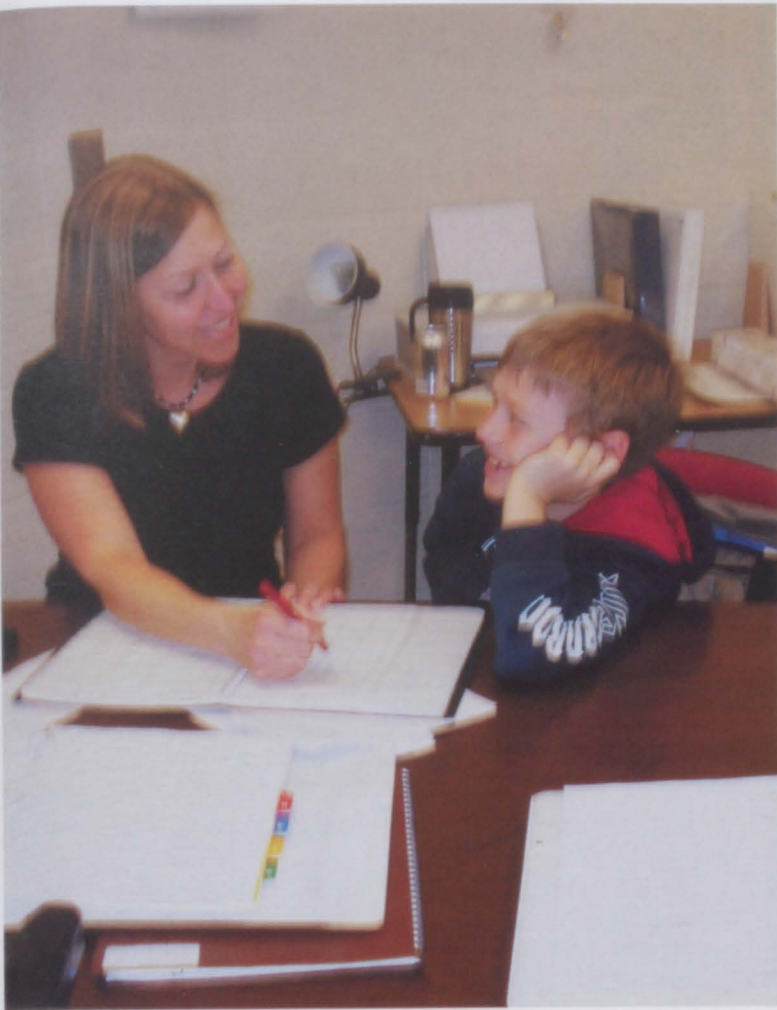

From formal to fun, guests entered the building to give PHHS a little more excitement throughout the year. Guest speakers offered their expertise in different fields to make PHHS students better informed. The school year of 2007-2008 had many guest speakers, as well as visitors.

A representative from Baker College came to English classes to talk about courses and how Baker College could help with careers. One main topic was the new Veterinary Technician program recently added to the Port Huron campus.

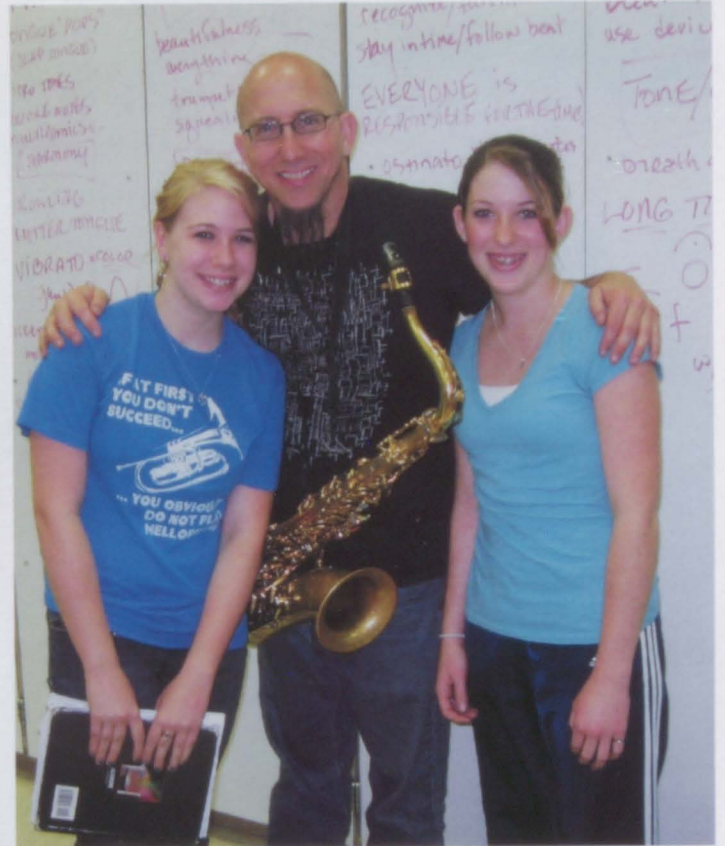

Ms. Linda Ball came to Mr. Allen's chemistry classes and talked about different elements that could be mixed together to form household items. She showed students what made the inside of children's diapers absorbent. Ms. Ball also discussed how bullet-proof vests were assembled. She discussed how to mix elements together and get a positive reaction, and what could happen if the wrong elements were mixed together.

The staff's children were able to observe their parents in the work environment when they came for Take Your Child to Work Day. They also saw what a day in high school was about.

Area professionals donated their time on Portfolio Day to make it a great event for seniors who were practicing interviewing skills, and presenting resumes to complete their government projects.

Voices and Strings

Music to Our Ears

They sang the scales or tuned their instruments to warm up for one of several classes: Women's Ensemble, Mixed Choir, Guitar Class, Jazz Band, or Concert Band.

Choir students practiced hitting the high and low notes. Some singers have been involved in these classes for several years. Sara Reid ('09), who has been in Choir for four years and is a Women's Ensemble member said, "We learn something new every day, Mr. Beasley teaches us to express ourselves in the music and read the music; we also learn how to read the key signatures." Choir classes sang a variety of songs at their concerts such as, "Domine Deus" (Latin) and "Yoo, Yoo" (Kenyan folk music).

"It's amazing to hear the voices and talent that we have," said Brandy Hernandez ('12). The musicians have "good tone and diction," said Jennifer Noble ('11). "Mr. Beasley helps us out with everything we must accomplish for the day's work," said Shirley Sanders ('09). Guitar Class collaborated with Jazz Band, Concert Band, and Choir to perform the Collage Concert that showcased each musician's talents and each group's abilities. The concert mixed the classes to perform a variety of songs.

The Guitar Class performed songs such as Spanish Harlem, Purple Haze, Sweet Home Alabama, and Wanted Dead or Alive at their concerts.

Women's Ensemble members Anna Ruppel ('09) and Kirsten Miller ('10), practice singing Yoo, Yoo with their class.

During second hour, Mr. Beasley's Women's Ensemble class warms up their voices by practicing their scales.

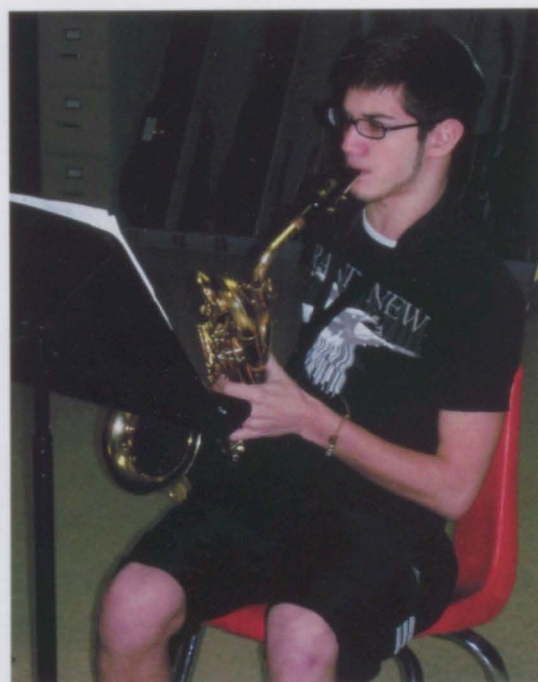

James Krause ('10) and Krista Visga ('10) read their French horn music notes in Concert Band, to prepare for the annual Christmas Concert.

Together with his class, Nathaniel Jackson ('10) performs his part of the piece for the day's work.

Learning a new song, senior Shirley Sanders practices her guitar notes, to improve on her skills during her third hour class.

Students Work

Along with Learning

For students ready for careers, TEC and CO-OP jump-started their ambitions.

The "TEC" Center gave 11th and 12th grade students the opportunity to develop career specific skills for future jobs.

"First semester, we were learning in the classroom and doing mostly book work, and second semester we worked out clinicals at the hospitals and at Marwood Manor" said Health student Mallory Bowie ('09).

"We learned all the things you need to know to become a fire fighter, do private security, and police work," said Cassandra Martin ('09), who took part in the Public Safety Program.

TEC's programs included Automotive Technology, BPA, Collision Repair, Cosmetology, Culinary Arts, Digital Media, Drafting, Electronics, Health, Mechatronics, Metal Machining, Public Safety and Welding. Students who completed a program were certified and ready for advanced training or employment.

With CO-OP, student workers were paid to run passes, answer calls and help staff.

Senior Mercedes Lindsay said "I enjoy doing CO-OP a lot. It is preparing me for something I might want to do in the future. I also enjoy working with people."

This year there were 34 CO-OP students, including some students that did CO-OP outside of school, like Matthew Biga (09) who worked at Quiznos.

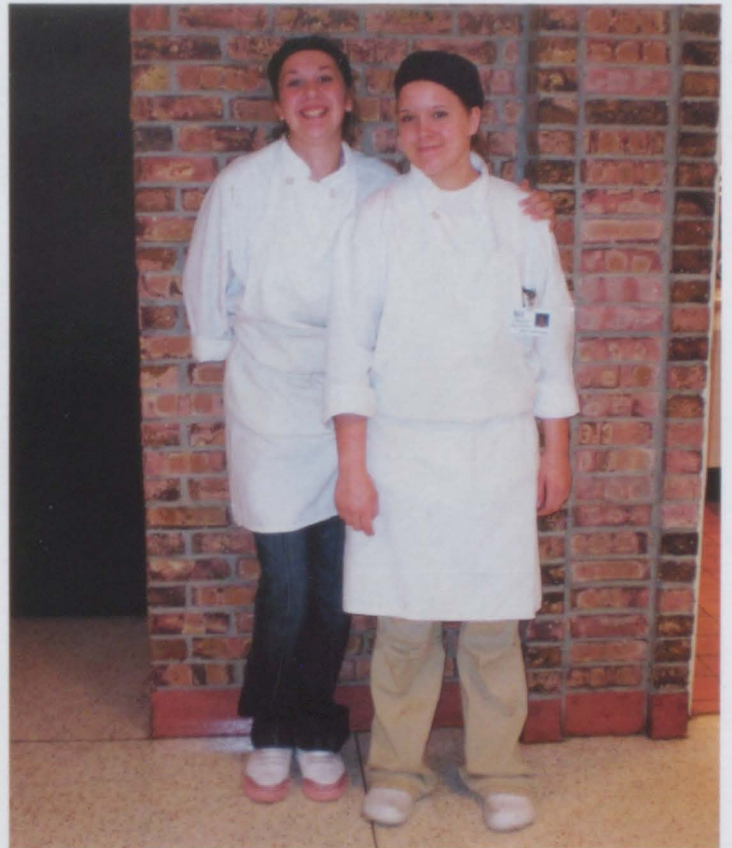

Public Safety uniforms like these that Shelby Peeling ('09) and Cassandra Martin ('09) wear, keep them ready for action.

Ms. Biga's AM Nurse Aid Class groups together one last time on seniors last day.

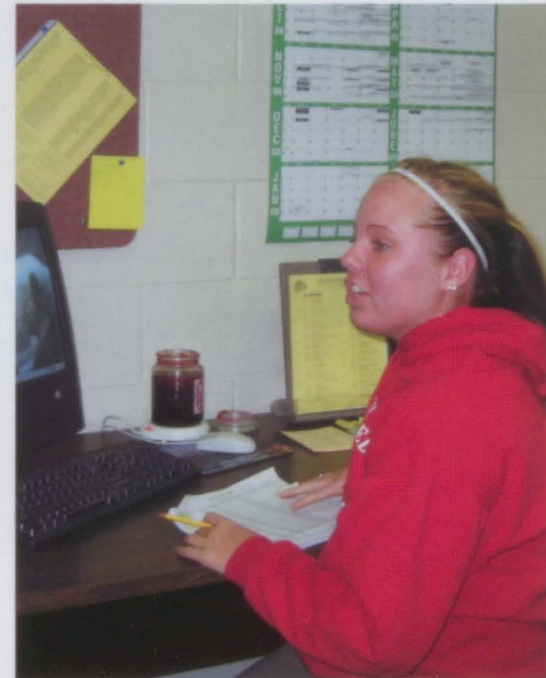

Airbrushing was one of the skills that Ronald Nedrow('09) learned in Collision Repair at the TEC Center.

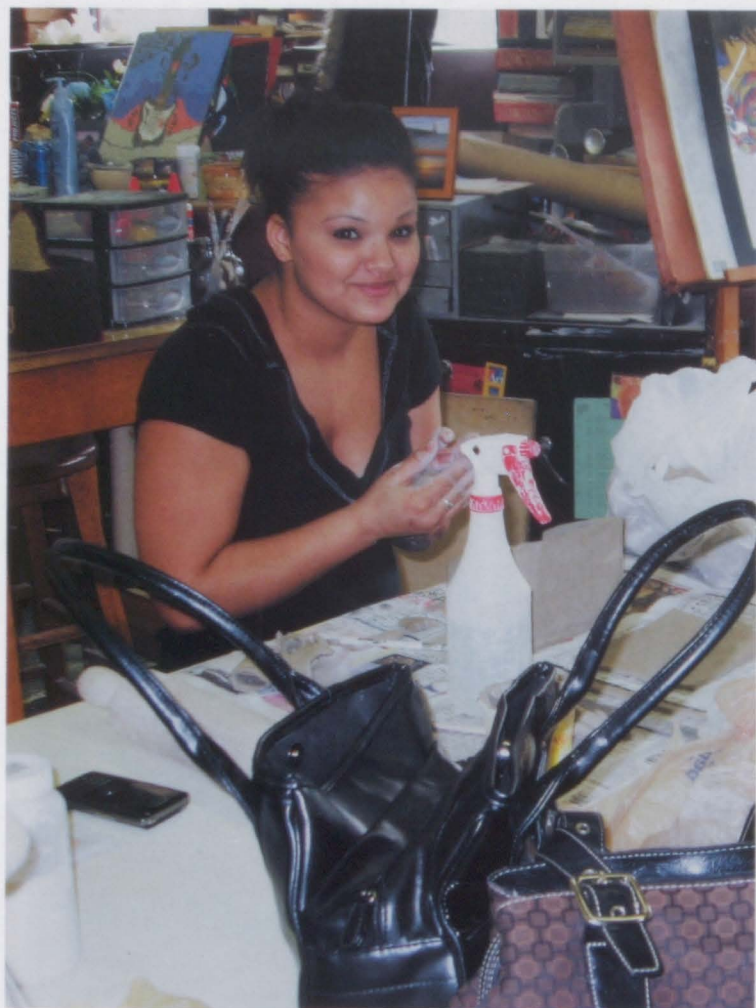

Seniors Jasmine Jackson and Lindsey Mausolf are uniformed for the AM Culinary Arts program at TEC.

Organizing and typing, Kylie Anger ('09) helps in the athletic office during sixth hour for CO-OP.

Kira Letzgus ('09) learned many different computer skills in her Digital Media class.

With Talent and Creativity

Paint the Town Big Red

Whether the preference was paint brushes, pencils, oil pastels or clay, the Art Department had it covered with Drawing, Basic Art, Ceramics, and Graphic Design.

"In high school people are really judgemental. I feel like drawing is one of the only ways to express myself and my feelings," said Drawing student Shelby Clark ('10).

The classes not only worked for grades, but they also could enter their work in the schools Fine Arts Festival, where they could win awards or money for their work. Also some projects were put on display in the Performing Arts Center and in front of the Main Office for parents, visitors, and other students to see.

"My imagination, interesting things, my friends and family, also everyday life is where I get my inspiration," said Ashley Raymo ('11).

Some of the assignments Drawing and Basic Art classes completed were sketch books, perspective drawing projects, comic strip enlargement, tessellation, and scenery pictures. For the Ceramics classes there were sculpted and painted pots, decorations and anything they may have been inspired to create.

"Materials I like to use are pretty much anything you can find everyday, but my favorites are special shading pencils and blending sticks to blend certain shades when I'm drawing," said Heather Conroy ('09).

During fourth hour Ceramics Class, Junior Ilesha Holt molds clay with her fingers to create her masterpiece project.

Displaying one of the many available methods, seniors Helen Willis and Kyla Howe use sculpting to shape the clay.

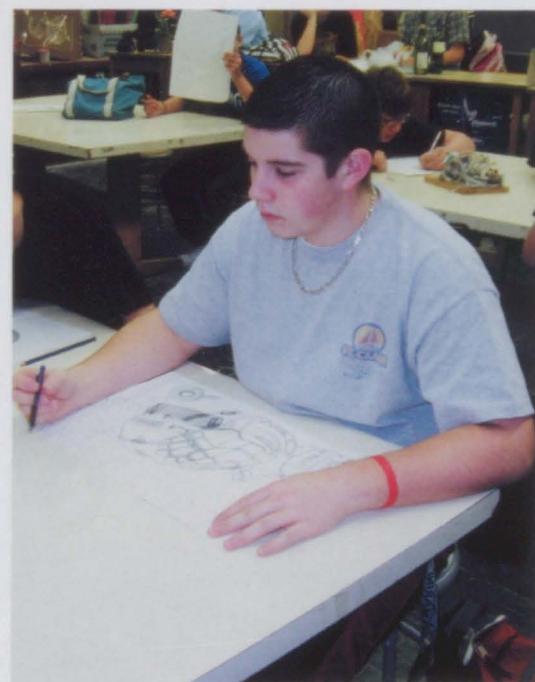

Seniors Katie Rodriguez and Shirley Sanders take the time to finish their projects with detailed painting in third hour Ceramics class.

Painting was the final step Cynthia Goble ('10) had to do until her project was complete for Ceramics Class.

Concentration and inspiration is all Thomas Jones ('11) needs to express his perspective in Drawing Class.

During fourth hour Ceramics class, Ashley McClellan ('09) and Cheyenne Bolt ('10) find the inspiration to complete their clay projects.

From Their Perspective

Try to See Things

Fundraising for new drums, members of the drum line sell fun tickets to Pie-a-Teacher.

One Club, Two Club, Three Club, Four! If it's for fun and/or education, there was a group here for everyone—regardless of their perspectives.

Academic based organizations included the National Honor Society, Quiz Bowl, the Writing Club and the Page Turners. Jennifer Kilbourn ('10) shared her view on the new Writing Club, "I like the people and suggestions you get. I like how close the group is since it's still small."

Leadership groups included Student Council, Class Officers, and HOW.

Veteran club members brought valuable experience. Senior Student Council Member Kyle Dyer described his experience as being "fun because you get to do lots of things like Jail and Bail, Blood Drives, and the annual Canned Food Drive."

Those new to a club offered fresh ideas and enthusiasm. New Student Council Member Aubrey Biga ('12) thought "a lot of things will make more sense and be more fun as a senior because I'll already know how to do everything. Seniors run the show and I can't wait to get to the point that they're at."

For those athletically inclined, clubs such as Thunderbirds, Bowling Club, and BRMM were of interest.

Each club featured activities that appealed to members. "My favorite part of being on the Thunderbirds Dance Team was the Colorguard season. It gave me a chance to be a part of the largest group in the school [BRMM] but while still doing what I love," remarked Amanda Parker ('10).

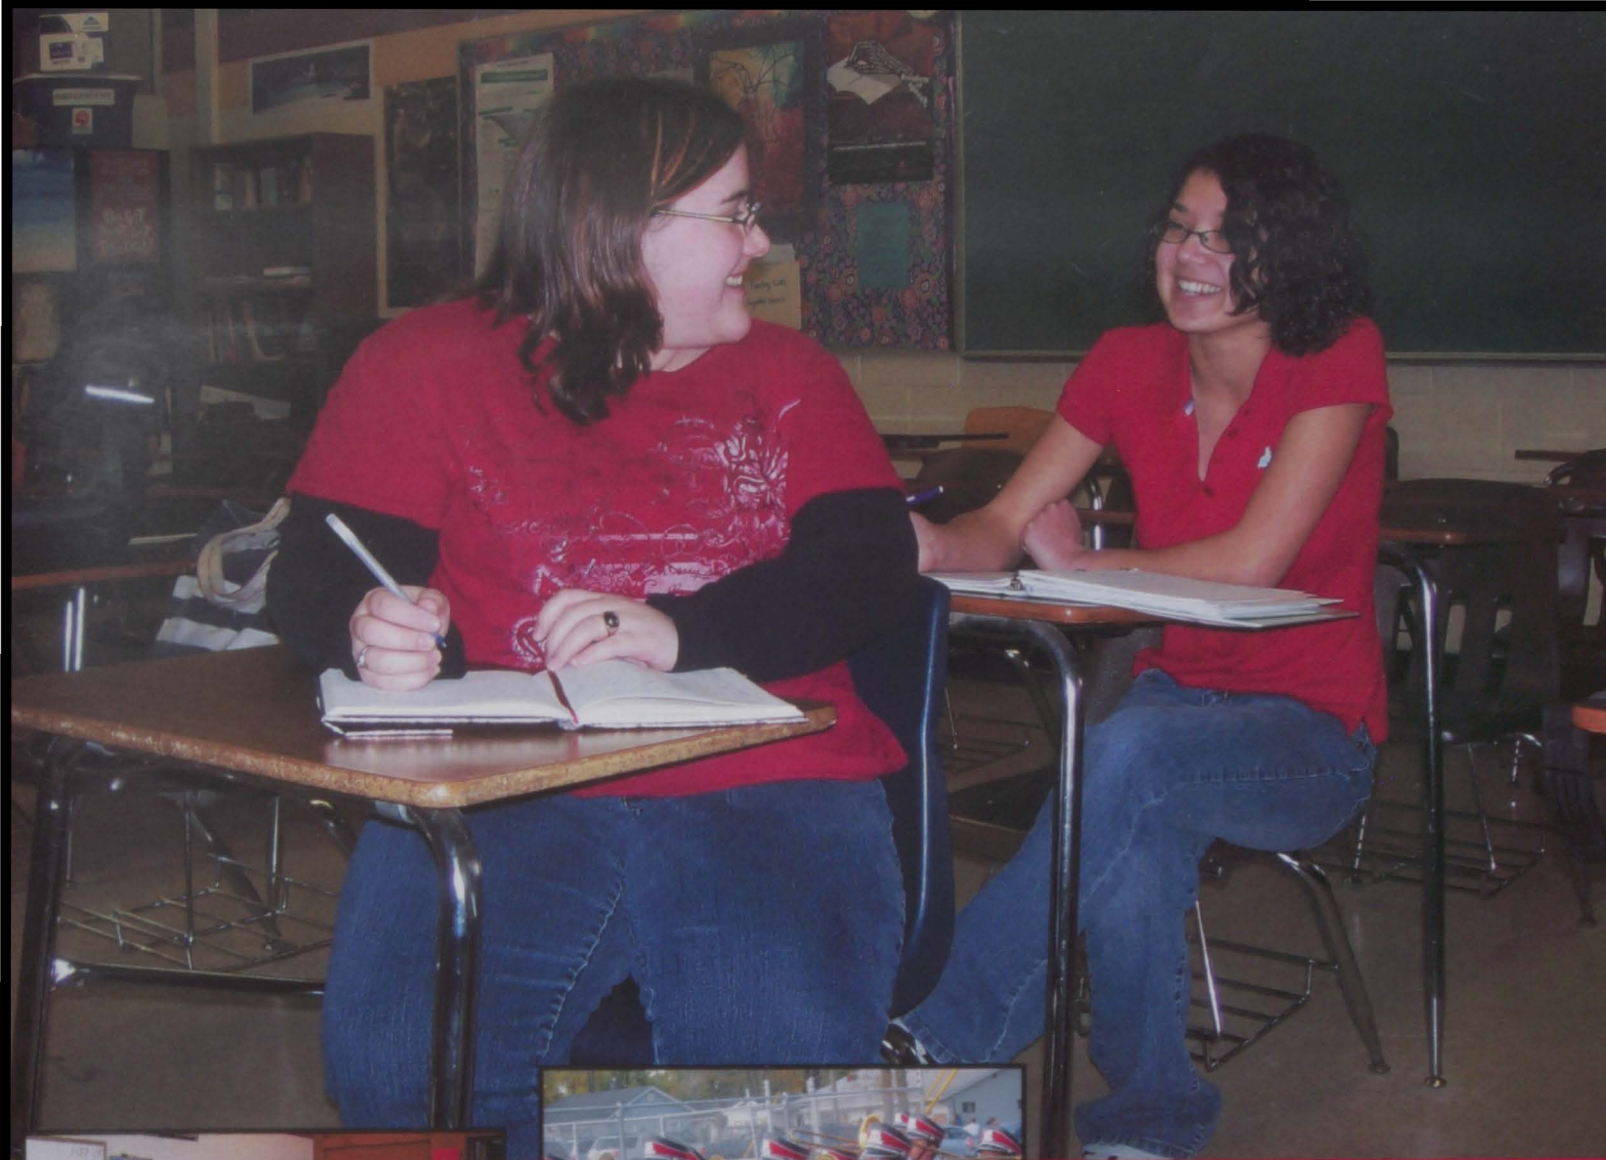

"My favorite part of Thunderbirds was the competitions. I hated getting up so early in the morning for them, but once we got our makeup done and our hair up, we all got kicked into gear," said Marcella Bodeis ('10).

Sponsors found that advising an organization gave them a better relationship with students, as well as the opportunity to provide healthy outlets for teens to express themselves in a positive way. From any perspective, it was all good.

Read That Book

"Twilight, again" he murmured. "Another ending. No matter how perfect the day is, it always has to end." (Twilight) For the Page Turners this book brought real excitement to the reading.

"I joined the Page Turners because I love to read and talk about books with other readers," said Hope Thompson ('12).

Page Turners usually met the third Monday of every month. During the meetings they first discussed an update from each sub group, and chose a popular novel for the next month as a whole group. After the discussion, they broke into their sub groups. Also the club sponsored the Book Fair that was held in the Media Center in December.

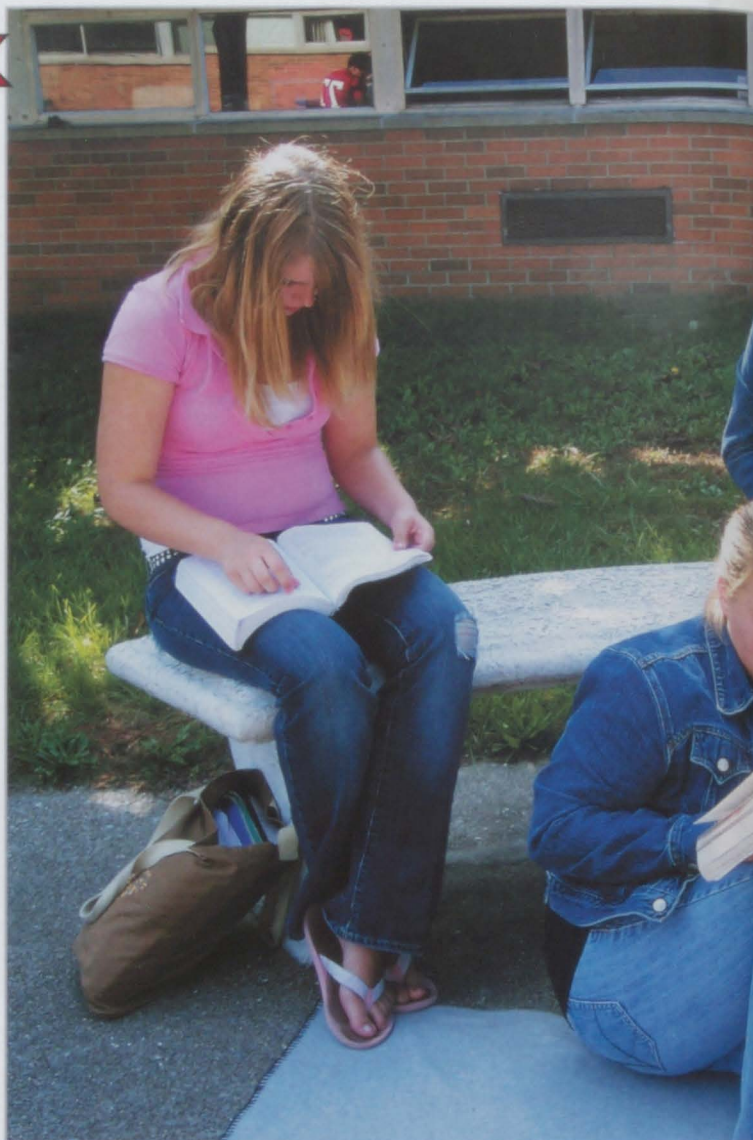

"Fiction and false history novels are my favorite, especially World War Z," said Brian Blake ('10).

Some books the Page Turners read were, Twilight, Gone With the Wind and, Midnight's Children. The books were chosen from Time Magazine's 100 Best Books Written in English, and suggestions were also made by the club's members.

The group had twenty-six members, almost double the size of last year's club. "It was surprising and fun to see how many students read for entertainment," said advisor Ms. Denise McCaffrey.

The goals Ms. McCaffrey had for the club were, "To encourage teachers and students to meet on level ground with the love of reading, and also to inspire others to jump in and fall in love with reading."

The reading never ends for junior members Shawna Jakush, Jessica Barno and, Molly Robison who take time out of their lunch to catch up on their reading for the club.

Helping Others

The Student Council started off the year with a Blood Drive in September that collected 63 pints of blood. They also helped with two other blood drives: one in December when 102 students signed up to give blood, and the last in May before seniors left.

Homecoming was the largest part of Student Council's year. After deciding the Homecoming theme "Underwater Enchantment," to help it run smoothly the work was split up by committees. Court Committee ordered crowns, sashes and flowers for the Homecoming Court. The Spirit Committee created all the Spirit Week days. Publicity Committee made all the event's signs. Games Committee decided on all the games and rules for the Homecoming Assembly. The last Homecoming Committee was the Dance Committee which picked out and ordered all the decorations, and also decided on what DJ to use for the dance. All the members were required to help set up before the dance or help clean up after. They were also required to bring cookies for students to eat during the dance.

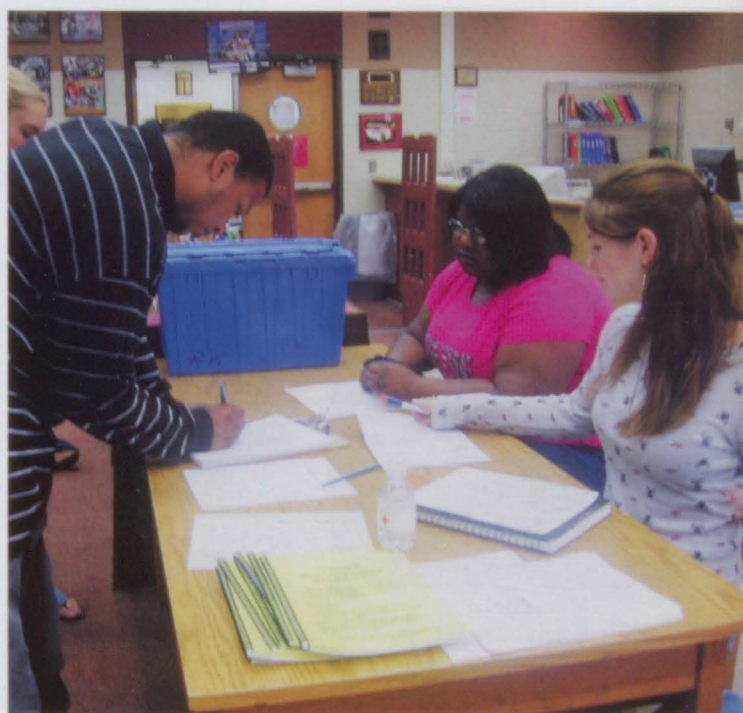

Every year the Student Council holds a Canned Food Drive after Thanksgiving. Last year only a total of 486 pounds of food was collected. This year students donated a total of 1,569 pounds of food. The senior class won with a total of 1,094 pounds of food, and Ms. Pettengill's Government classes all together donated 819.54 pounds of the seniors total. Sophomores brought 412.96 pounds, the freshmen had 48.55 pounds and juniors collected 18 pounds of food.

Help Port Huron

About eighty-six years ago a very prestigious and honorable society was created, and the name of it was the National Honor Society. This organization stands on the four pillars of society: scholarship, leadership, character, and service. Each year, students who have been able to maintain a 3.3 grade point average are given the honor of joining this exclusive group. "Being in this society means you are one of the bright, responsible students who wants to help out the community," states Shane Donaldson ('09). But to become an official member, the new inductees participate in a Candlelight Induction Ceremony

To keep this running smoothly, members elected leaders: President Anthony Moncrief ('09), Vice President Davon Hawkins ('09), Secretary Samantha Warsalla ('09), Treasurer Danielle McFadden ('09) and Historian Bailey Klein ('09) got the most votes. Advisors for the organization were Ms. Kelly Blay, and Mrs. Angela Kopydlowski,

For each member to stay in this society, they needed ten service points by performing community service. "Volunteering is how we earn our service points," said Cheyenne Bolt ('10). Some activities the members participated in were the Festival of Trees, the soup kitchen, and tutoring after school. Students also earned internal points by turning in their report cards, participating in bake sales, and even going to meetings. A total of 21 internal point were needed to be earned by the end of the year.

The Piano Man

In the mood for a melody, the Big Red Marching Machine prepared to start the first football game of the 2008 season with a piano and harmonica duet. Swaying along to the duet the Big Red Marching Machine took the field.

Not only did the Big Red Marching Machine perform Piano Man, but also Scenes From an Italian Restaurant, and Only the Good Die Young in tribute to the famous Billy Joel. The band also added a unique drum solo in between Scenes From an Italian Restaurant, and Only the Good Die Young.

While in Lexington for band camp, the students, "Worked on marching basics for six hours out of the day," and they also, "worked on the music and show for this year's season," said Senior Drum Major Michael Schoettle ('09).

The BRMM also participated in pep bands for the basketball season, a spaghetti dinner, five different seasonal concerts, and five different parades, one of which was located in Canada.

With the marching season almost over, the Marching Machine performed in the MSBOA marching band festival. "MS-BOA is one of the biggest events we have besides the Northern game. All of the other bands from different schools come to our school to compete," commented Jeffery Cates ('10).

Just as quickly as it started, the marching season came to a close and "concert season began, and we wait until next year," says Nathan Ganhs ('11).

The Big Red Marching Machine, performed an arrangement of Billy Joel's classics for their 2008 show at MSBOA, held at Memorial Stadium, to receive a Division II.

In Front of the Judges

Best friends and teammates all rolled in one. The Thunderbirds had a spirited start during the United Dance Association (UDA) Camp located at Oakland University. The team started out with two summer camps, one private camp hosted by Creative Dance Visions, and the UDA camp. The dancers were able to bond with each other while learning all new types of dances and testing their limits as dancers.

Months of hard work paid off as the girls took their hard work on the road. They gathered ideas from both camps and made their routines. The ladies rocked it out as they danced to Into the Night by Santana featuring Chad Krouger. The dance featured high kicks as well as the traditional double spins. For the first time in five years the team competed with a Hip Hop dance. "Being able to be the captain of a dance was exciting, but it was a lot more nerve-racking than I thought it was. I give Kristi a lot of credit for not letting her nerves get to her on the floor," said dancer Marcella Bodeis ('10).

The officers this year were Captain Kristi Radatz ('09), Assistant Captain Amanda Parker ('10), and Secretary Marcella Bodeis ('10). New dancer Sydni Sopha ('12) describes her first year as being "different then what I expected, but more like a family than I could've ever asked for."

As a part of the BRMM, the dancers also took part in various parades and became the colorguard team for the band during their halftime show. The ladies stuck together and never let their spirits get down.

Acting It Out

Triple Plays

HONK HONK! It's the sound of the Drama Club. This year, members participated in A Night of One Acts (a series of small skits), the winter play Fools by Neil Simon, and the spring musical Honk.

The Drama Club held meetings every Wednesday night where, the actors did exercises like improvising. Some other acting exercises included projecting voices, and the backstage crew perfected the lights and sounds. Lina Lu ('11) described it, "We play games and goof around to familiarize ourselves with one another and the stage."

The best part of Drama Club for some people was the ability to be comfortable in front of an audience. Some thespians joined Drama Club to be with their friends. Cheyenne Bolt ('10) said, "I've done theater my whole life and I couldn't wait to do it with my high school." Jamie Koebe's ('11) favorite part of being in Drama Club was "meeting a lot of people and becoming friends with them." Kyle Dobbs ('09) agreed, stating "Oh yes, I've definitely made more friends and a lot more confidence."

Senior Actress Breana Valdez expressed sadness about graduation with an explanation of, "I have been in Drama since my freshman year, and I haven't gotten tired of it. I am going to miss interacting with the other members and participating in awesome plays."

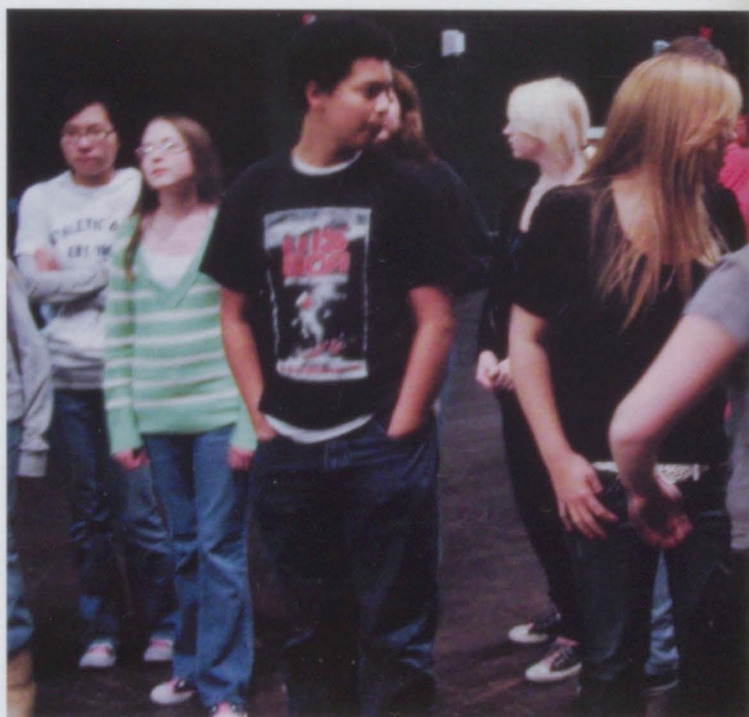

Seniors Heather Pesta and Hayle Comtois were Co-Directors during The One Acts.

To get caught up on Drama news, actors mingle with each other.

To perfect their performances, Hayle Comtois ('09), Scott Lusk ('11) and John Kriewall ('10) read through The Book of Curses numerous times.

One technique used by Drama members was to get into groups and talk about the various things they have learned about acting. Here, a group of student thespians use this method to learn new skills that will help them become better actors and actresses.

Final Answer?

Case Closed...

Some of the brightest and best students at PHHS were members of two competitive groups known as the Quiz Bowl Team and the Mock Trial Team.

"Any student could join, everyone and anyone that wants to," said Chrissla Boyea ('10).

The Quiz Bowl Team was a group of individuals furthering their education in a way that offered a challenge. Teammates helped each other with the tough questions.

At the hour-long practices, every Tuesday and Thursday, the advisor, Mr. William Doyle, quizzed the members mentally and physically. This club was more than just knowledge at work; speed was needed as well to make sure the Big Reds got the answer in before the opponents.

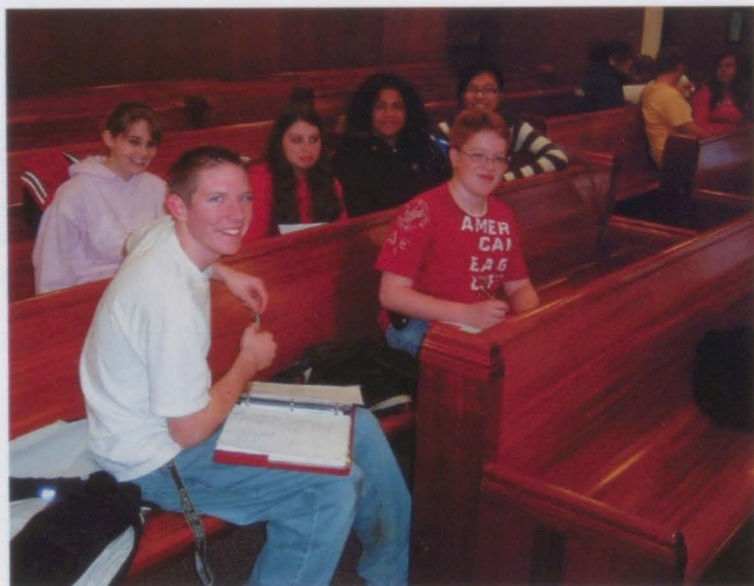

Another group of individuals who knew how to use their brains were the members of Mock Trial.

"Mock Trial is exactly what it sounds like, a trial," commented Zachary Crumb ('10). "We go through each step of the proceedings: opening statements, witnesses, and closing arguments. Students filled the roles of attorneys and witnesses."

Mock Trial was a perfect opportunity for those who wanted to work in the Judicial System. "I want to be a lawyer when I graduate from college, so it seemed like a natural choice," said Rebecka Fugate ('09).

The members of Mock Trial met on Tuesdays and Thursdays in Mrs. Laura Mitchell's room, or at the court house.

Waiting for their questions are Henry Chen ('10) and Travis Hill ('11) at their meet at Marysville High School.

Members of Mock Trial, Shelby Chisholm ('10) and Rebecka Fugate ('09), wait to hear the arguments.

In the Making

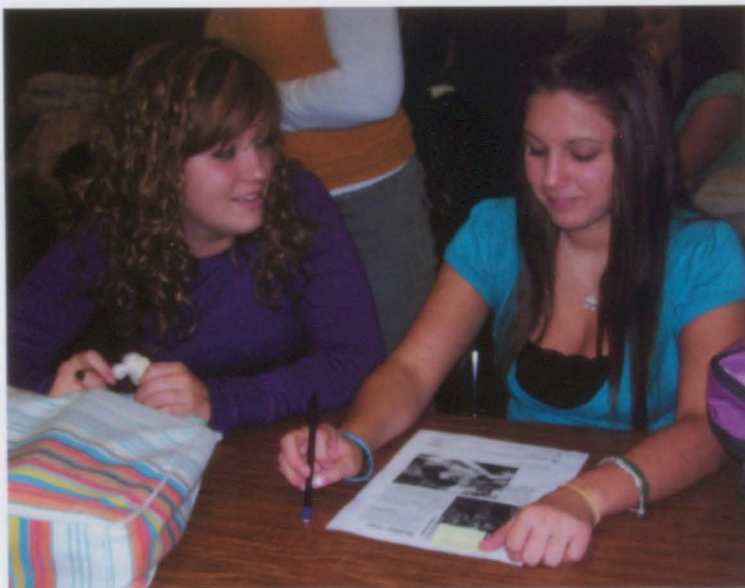

Papers flying, keys tapping, and editors doing their best to get the book out on time marks the start of a new creative year. A class where new students outnumbered returning editors, there was a lot to be done in a short amount of time.

Summer held a lot of potential to the staff as well as posing some obstacles. With a theme change just before the start of the school year, the yearbook editors were taking on a big responsibility. The theme of "A Matter of Perspective" was suggested at a summer camp held at Michigan State University in early June. Editors and Herff Jones representatives thought that a book all about the way other people look at things would be a challenge, but they had faith in the staff from the south end of town.

For the first time in PHHS Yearbook history, all spreads were sent for printing via internet. E-Proofs allowed the staff to take everyday to pull together all their spreads and just send them when they were due, instead of allowing a week of processing. Another technological advancement was that for the second year in a row, the team went with all digital photos, and all color pages.

Fundraisers were featured in the yearbook room. In order to keep the cost of the yearbook down for fellow students, the twenty-seven staff members worked long hard hours getting donations, setting up events around town, and selling items to their families, friends, and co-workers. By doing various fundraisers, the staff cut the cost of books by $5 per student.

Make a Flash

For the second year in a row students joined two of the most modern clubs: HOW and Flash.

The Help Our World Club (HOW) dealt with environmental matters. "The thing I like best about helping the environment is knowing that you can make a difference in the safety of our world," said Alisha Parlin ('10).

This year they added a Recycling Program, with the help of Mr. Dave Harrington from St. Clair Packaging. "I think it was awesome that we started a recycling program," stated Jeremy Ruiz ('10).

They also got involved in programs called Adopt-A-Stream, and Leave No Trace. The advisor for this club was Mrs. Becky Gilbert.

Flash Club taught members how to work with a program called Adobe Flash CS3, which allowed users to create Web Publications and Graphic Design. To advance their computer knowledge while having fun, they also made and finished their own creations. The Flash Club encouraged students who had a big interest in designing games, movies, and advertisements to get involved.

Mr. Ray Theut and Mr. Dave Kleinstiver were the advisors for the Flash Club with the help of PHHS Graduate, Eric Swarts. Both of these clubs were started by students who wanted to share their interests with other students.

These clubs met after school; for HOW Club it was the first and third Thursday of the month and Flash Club met every Monday.

Students help the HOW group, in Beard's Hill, by sampling water, at Adopt-A-Stream.

Winner's Perspective

From the perspective of Big Red players, fans and coaches, it was a great year full of celebration. From the perspective of our opponents it was a year of dread with each trip to Big Red Country.

For the second year in a row the Varsity Football Team defeated crosstown rival Northern and brought home the Brick Fowler Trophy. The team made it to playoffs for only the fourth time in PHHS history. Also, they beat Anchor Bay for the first time in almost 20 years.

"It felt great to bring home the Brick Fowler Trophy for the second year in a row," said senior Maurice Livingston.

Not outdone, the boys Soccer Team won both games against arch enemy Northern. The season highlights were winning the MAC Blue Championship and Districts 4-2 after double overtime, advancing them to Regionals.

"I'm happy that we were able to leave our mark on the Soccer program. Hopefully there will be many still to come," said Frank Hudson ('09).

The Varsity Volleyball Team had a great season winning the MAC Gold Championship. They had the perfect season—winning ten out of ten games in their league.

"It felt really great to defeat Marine City. It felt even better to clench the MAC title," said Varsity Volleyball Captain Hannah Jones ('09).

The Girls Cross Country Team met for practices during the summer, and ran five-mile-runs to get into shape. In addition to the practices, a three day camp was held to improve their skills.

The Big Red's continued their dominance of the Huskies, as all three girls basketball teams defeated the rival squads.

After 29 years in Big Red Country, Mr. Kenneth Semelsberger, who retired in January, held the wide perspective of All-Things-Sports. Mr. Semelsberger received Athletic Director of the Year Award from Michigan Region 10, and in 2008 was inducted into the Port Huron High Sports Hall of Fame.

Achieving Goals

Bearing Weather

They waited, waited, and waited some more for spring, but they couldn't wait any more. In order to practice, the girls had to shovel the snow off the courts. "It's cold and windy which decreases my playing ability, and it's really hard to get court time at the Tennis House," said Varsity player Sarah Bachman ('08). The matches were intense, but the Varsity and Junior Varsity teams were ready.

Practicing was an adjustment, since Tennis changed seasons. "We are at the Tennis House with less court time, so we work out or play games," said Varsity player Elizabeth Burgess ('08).

The team soon realized that in order to achieve their goal of working together, it would take practice with a little bit of inspiration from well known tennis player, Venus Williams, who motivated them to push their skills to match their potential.

Foreign exchange student Marina Schonhoff ('08) remembered that "I played it already once for fun, so I wanted to learn how to play 'right'." She worked together with her partner Lina Lu ('11) and made it through her first match, "It was my very first time to play a match so I was a little nervous, but at the same time excited."

To the Finish

"Jump! Stretch!" Run! These and other words were heard from the coaches and teammates.

After a slow start, the Big Reds picked up their game and earned victories against Utica, Warren Mott, and Sterling Heights. The team placed twelfth in the regionals and improved by placing sixth in the Mac Red Meet.

Port Huron saw one member advance to the State meet. Trevor Baker ('09) competed in the pole vaulting event. "My strength would have to be my dedication. I practiced pole vaulting all year long, there's no off season for me," he stated.

The track team practiced prior to the start of the season and practices continued throughout the season. The team worked on their endurance and stamina. "Our practices vary from day to day, usually the day before a meet we go a couple of miles, but some days when we have a few days between our meets we up to eight miles," said Tyler Mueller ('11).

"As a team we had a decent season, but the main purpose of the year was to have each person improve so we can have a strong team next year," said Jonathon Zweng ('09).

Rounding the turn, Christopher Tatti ('09) takes the lead in his event.

Picking Up Speed and Taking the Lead

Crisp spring air brought out the 2008 girls Track Team. With a new season and a new coach, the girls were ready to run.

"Our first race was against Eisenhower, the only team that beat us last year. We contended very well; we won a lot of first places; however, they beat us deep. I was pleased with the girls," stated Coach George Moger.

As the season continued, the weather improved and so did the girls. The team took first place in the Lowell Speiss Relays. They competed well; this was the start of their victories.

"This is my first year running track, but I've been on the Cross Country team for the past two years. With the season change I decided to run track instead of playing softball, and I enjoy it a lot," said Hannah Kostanecki ('08).

"The team had an excellent season and a lot of fun. I'm going to miss it," said Caitlyn Bonney ('08).

"I joined the track team because I love the way it feels after you've won a track meet or just a long day of conditioning. It just feels like you're a part of something good," said Amber Kinder ('10).

Megan Stone ('10) clears a hurdle during the 100 meter team relay.

Scoring Runs

While most students took time off for spring break, the Baseball Team was busy taking part in the Early Bird Tournament, despite poor weather conditions which cancelled some games.

The varsity team earned their first victory of the season in their second home game, defeating L'Anse Creuse. The game went into an extra inning, but ended with a final score of 6-5. Durrand Ashford ('09) made the last hit bringing home Andrew Page ('09) who scored the winning run. "The win against L'Anse Creuse felt great and we worked hard to earn the win," said Andrew Page ('09).

May 29 was another important game for the varsity squad, as they took on Northern. Unfortunately Northern gained the bragging rights with a tough 5-9 victory. The Junior Varsity were the only ones to defeat the Huskies, winning by a big score of 13-9.

The Freshmen were able to earn their biggest victories against Marysville and East Detroit, winning 18-5 and 19-4 respectively.

According to Benjamin Armitage ('11), "The season went very well even though I had to sit out the last five games due to an injury during the Marysville game."

Making a diving play, Bradley Davies ('08) gets the third out against Marysville.

Strike 'Em Out

For the majority of sports teams, a short season was to take place, but not for the softball teams. Playing 31 games, the Varsity team finished with a record of 10-21. Helping the team and leading the way was Captain Jennifer Killbourn.

During a season that was successful from the beginning, the Junior Varsity Team ended with a record of 15-7. Keeping them focused were Captains Shelby Baker ('10), Kaitlyn Findley ('10) and Kristen Morris ('10).

With a 7-13 record the Freshman Team improved throughout the season. Their chosen leader was Captain Allison Bailey ('11).

Important honors given were the Sportmanship Award received by Jessica Lieske ('08), and the Spark Plug Award given to Amanda Lash ('10), and Catherand Thornsberry ('11).

Working on and off the field, the players contributed hours to practice which "consisted of throwing, hitting, and defensive skills, but most importantly, working as a team and not individuals on a team," said Kimberly Miller ('09). With a brand new batting cage located in the Auxillary Gym, the softball teams had the advantage to practice their batting skills even in bad weather.

Scoring Goals

As the season grew warmer, the Big Red girl's soccer teams knotted up their cleats, pulled their hair back into pony tails, and stepped onto the field.

For some, this had been a part of their lives for a very long time. "My friends in fourth grade all played soccer; I really enjoyed it, so I've played every season ever since," relates Rebecca Jackson ('09).

With several changes, the team not only looked at fresh faces, but also at a new varsity coach. Mr. Ryan Kopydlowski helped the girls through the season, finishing with 3 wins, 1 tie, and 10 losses. "I was proud and knew that the team pushed it to the limit," commented Coach Mr. Ryan Kopydlowski.

The Varsity team finished third in the league, while the Junior Varsity completed a very successful season, with only one loss. "I'm extremely proud of the girl's effort. They worked very hard and tried their best," said Coach Mr. Ryan Kopydlowski.

Each team had plenty of goals to achieve through the season. "My personal goal is to score one goal a game. My team's goal is to do our best no matter what," said Mackenzie Hagedon ('11).

Scoring Goals

Sinking Putts and

"Fore!" That's one thing you could hear from the golf team as the season started. Golfers began by getting their clubs out and starting to practice. Working on their driving, putting, and chipping skills again, while the Lacrosse players began by practicing their goal shooting and passing skills. Golf has had a long tradition, played here since 1949, whereas Lacrosse was only in its third year here at PHHS. "The love of the game inspires me," stated golfer Trevor Prince ('08).

While the sport may not be so new, there were still some changes happening to the team. In addition to the experienced golfers, new golfers were added. Another change for the Golf Team was the timing; instead of taking place in the fall, the golf season was moved up as a spring sport. Holland Padgham ('09) said, "I have been playing golf for fifteen years, and I still think it's fun."

While the Golf Team was hit with the season change, the Lacrosse Team was right at home in the spring season as it did not change from last year. As an addition, Mr. Bradley McDougal took the honors of coaching the team. The Lacrosse Team consisted of a combined effort from PHHS and PHN for its team roster.

Varsity Scores

With their game faces on and confidence high, the boys Varsity Soccer Team had another intense season. The team had high hopes and expectations which helped motivate them.

Senior Christopher Tatti said, "My biggest goal is to win the MAC Blue, win our district game and potentially regionals."

Despite being in a higher division than last year, the boys still used their skills and strengths to better their game.

"Experience and vision are the main strengths I use," said Ryan Kovach ('09): they help me find the open so we can score goals."

The season went on when they won 1-0 against Anchor Bay to make it into districts.

Once again the Varsity Team went head to head with rival Port Huron Northern and kicked them twice. The highlight of these victories was winning the district game 4-2 after going into double overtime, putting the Big Reds into Regionals. Their overall league record was 15-3-4. Their league record was 8-2-2.

The Junior Varsity also did well, finishing with an overall record of 9-5-2 and a league record of 8-2-2.

To the Finish

Swimming Feet

Swimming laps at the speed of light was a goal for the Red Dawgs in the season. Knocking off seconds was a major achievement for the team and the individuals.

The Red Dawgs moved from the Birchwood Athletic Club to the brand new YMCA to practice and train for competition. The new member of the team was Coach Ms. Sarah Blackstock, who was a competitive swimmer for the St. Clair Club Team.

For warm ups the Red Dawgs would start by sprinting to build hard calf muscles for speed in swimming. After that they swam for an hour and a half in two groups, working on different strokes and unique techniques to hold their breath for a longer period of time. This would help the team shave seconds off their lap times. Then, they would compete against each other for the best times.

"To get ready for the meets, I like to listen to music like Metallica, AC/DC, and MegaDeath. This helps me get pumped up, and the music calms my nerves" said Kaitlin Smith ('11).

The Red Dawgs took third place overall, which was a feat since there were only fifteen swimmers on the team; just three of these swimmers came from Port Huron High.

While on the backstroke, Kaitlin Smith ('11) makes her way to the finish.

Quickly Conquering The Route!

What's been cooking this year for Boys Cross Country? "The cookouts were the most exciting part of the season because that meant the run was over," stated Eric Payne ('11)

The season was average 0with a record of 7-7 The boys learned a lot this season, whether it was from Coach Mr. Ben Pionk, from other teammates, or from themselves. "I learned how to hold a 5k pace and how fast I should be going," said Sean Boyd ('12).

For Tobias Hauser ('09) German Foreign Exchange Student, what was exciting was "Cross Country in general."

Coach Mr. Ben Pionk said things that got the boys pumped were solid warmups and the "Who's sweet? We're sweet!" cheer. This helped when it was time to put their game faces on.

Although no records were broken, it was still a good season for the team since team members were able to improve their runtimes and achieve the goals they made for themselves.

The boys got their practice in at any time they could, whether it was after school at PHHS or by running laps around the neighborhood.

Making his way around a curve, senior Zachary Carroll keeps the lead in the event.

Through the Woods

Pre-season, the girls met at school for practices during the summer. These long five mile runs worked the girls into shape for their first meet against Cros- Lex in the Cros-Lex Invitational.

In addition to the practices, a three day camp was open to all the girls who were interested in improving their skills. They endured long runs, speed workouts, and a tight diet to ensure the best training and nutrition needed to compete at the top level.

For some fun at Cross Country Camp, there were campfires and time to hang out. "I like the team; it's small, like a family," said Heather Molesworth ('09). Being at Cross Camp also gave the girls time to bond and get to know each other. The girls became a team, and were no longer just people in a group. "Being a part of a team, we are like a family. When one of us fails, we all fail," said Jessica Tippie ('12).

Often, track is confused with Cross Country, but the two sports are very different. Cross Country is more of an endurance sport and track is more of a speed sport. "It's not boring; you get to see different scenery and you don't have to run in circles," explained Torrey McRobie ('12).

To achieve the first place slot in the meet, Krystal Draveling ('10) strides to the front of the group.

With rackets in hand, the Varsity and Junior Varsity Boys Tennis Teams were ready and excited to hit the courts.

With seven victories for the team, the Big Reds were feeling pretty confident, with wins against Marysville, Utica, Henry Ford, Sterling Heights, Yale, L'Anse Creuse, Cros-Lex, and Warren Mott.

Doubles player Alejandro Bueno ('12) stated that he "started to take tennis lessons during the summer to prepare for the fall sport."

For Tyler Duncan ('10) on the Varsity team, one of the several players that had played since their freshman year, the one thing that kept him motivated was "to win and play better."

Varsity player Steven Crimmins ('10) stated, "I was inspired by my dad to play the sport," and "winning and having fun," was what kept him playing.

According to Varsity Coach Mr. Greg Berra, "Practices consisted of lab drills, service drills, and rally drills." The six practices a week paid off in the long run for the Varsity and Junior Varsity Tennis Teams. They ended their seasons with the winning records of 7-5-2 for the Varsity Team and 4-4-3 for the Junior Varsity Team.

FORE!!! The girls Golf Team teed off an exciting season full of learning, bonding, and sportsmanship.

"This year was a rebuilding year," said Coach Mr. Juan Hernandez.

The girls on the team were brand new to the sport and had not played much. Despite that, they were able to tie for fourth in the season itself and third in the Divisional Meet held at Fore Lakes.

"It was a fun season and a really good way to start off my senior year," said Senior Kirsten Jex.

The highlight of their year was the trip to Bay City for the Regional Meet. The girls ate at Applebee's, went swimming, and played golf at the Essexville Bay County Gold Course.

"I had a lot of fun just hanging out with the girls in general; we have a kind a family bond," said Shelby Baker. ('10)

The team had something to celebrate when all eight members of the team earned MAC All-Academic Awards.

Some special awards that the girls received were: Lowest Score which went to Junior Shelby Baker, Most Pars, Most Birdies, and also Big Red of the Year which were all awarded to Junior Megan Torello.

The volleyball dramatically fell over the net, the player was tensed and ready to dive for the ball as it got closer to her. The fans held their breath as they waited for the game to end in the final minutes.

Heather Weiss ('12) from the JV team said, "The Marine City Tournament was my favorite match because it was a close game; we had a lot of people there cheering us on; it was intense, and it made our team work hard and have a challenge. We Won!"

The undefeated JV team then faced off the undefeated Marine City team, and the Big Reds won again.

When on the court at games, Courtney Corby ('12) kept in mind the advise she once got from a coach, "Forget about your mistakes and move on." Sydney Jones ('11) also kept in mind the advise she got, "Play Together, Play to win, Play Big Red Volleyball."

What helped the Freshman and JV teams get ready for their games were warm ups which included two laps around the gym, throw downs, six minute abs, isometrics, relays, 50 Low - Bikes, 100 High-Bikes, V - Sits, 50 Crunches, and Stations. After all that, the Freshman and JV teams did practice games.

Taking The Gold

The girls Varsity Volleyball Team had a great season this year by winning the MAC Gold Championship. Most of the players' favorite game was versus Marine City, which they won. Trisha Goyette ('09) said, "My favorite game this season was the second time we played Marine City because it was for the MAC title."

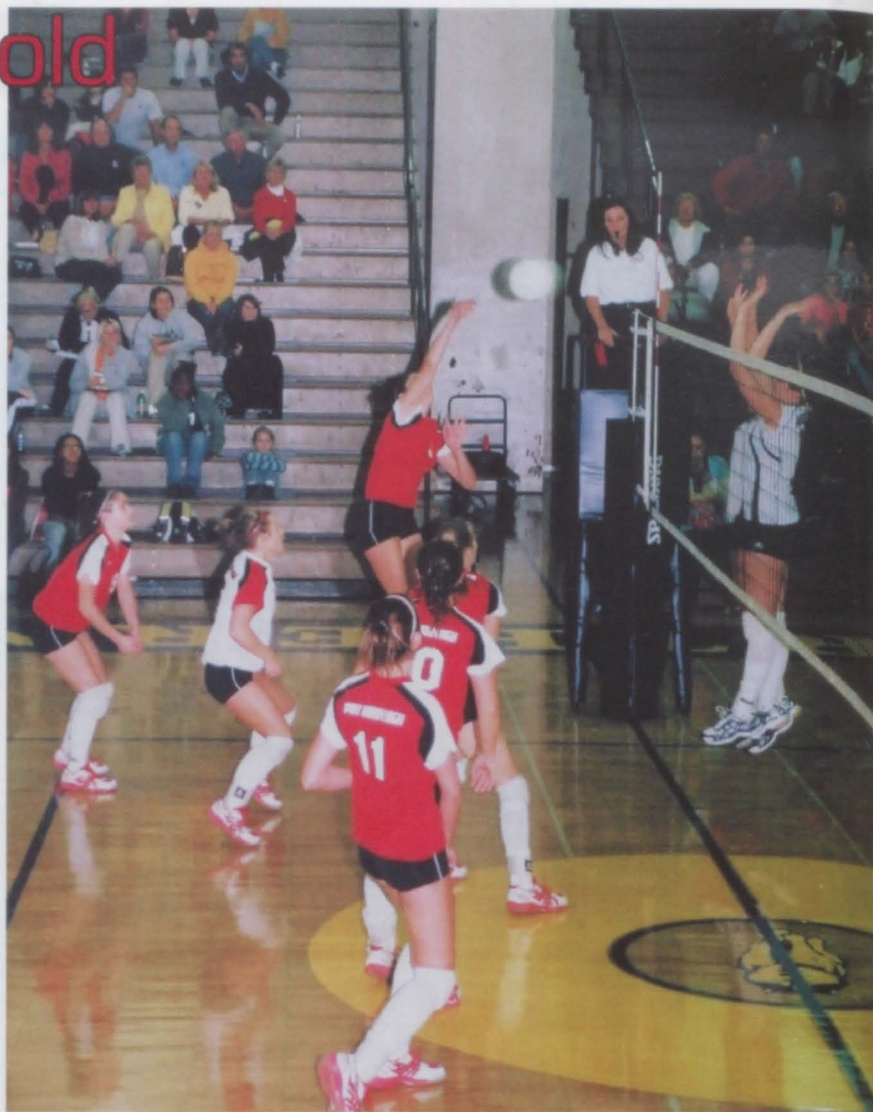

Jazmine Brown ('12) said, "I think I improved by a mile; I got to play with girls ten steps ahead of me, and I learned from them. I didn't stay the same and now I know what my true potential can be."

Leading the way for the 2008 Varsity Team were captains were Hannah Jones ('09) and Carly Sansone ('10).

Some individual players also received special awards, including sophomore Brooke Haggerty who got the Spark Plug Award. BIG RED of the Year went to senior Trisha Goyette. Senior Hannah Jones and Sophomore Carmen Pionk shared the honors for the Most Valuable Player Award. Finally Darchelle Mitchell ('11) was voted Most Improved Player.

Anne Russ ('09) said, "The team's chemistry with each other is amazing; we don't really fight and, when we do it's not against each other."

Leaping up, the team spikes the ball over the net and avoids the block.

"Big Reds get to it..." was heard from the side lines at the football games. "It's been a great season cheering for the Big Reds," said Varsity Cheerleader Alexandra Tummons ('09). "Being on the cheerleading team has brought me closer to the other girls," Lauren Mann ('09) said with a few girls out with injuries the squad still managed to stay forward and get their work done.

"I looked forward to every Friday night game because when the tribe was involved and included themselves to get the team pumped, it's great!" said Cassandra Martin ('09).

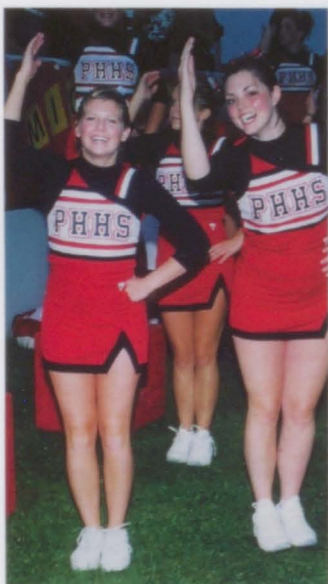

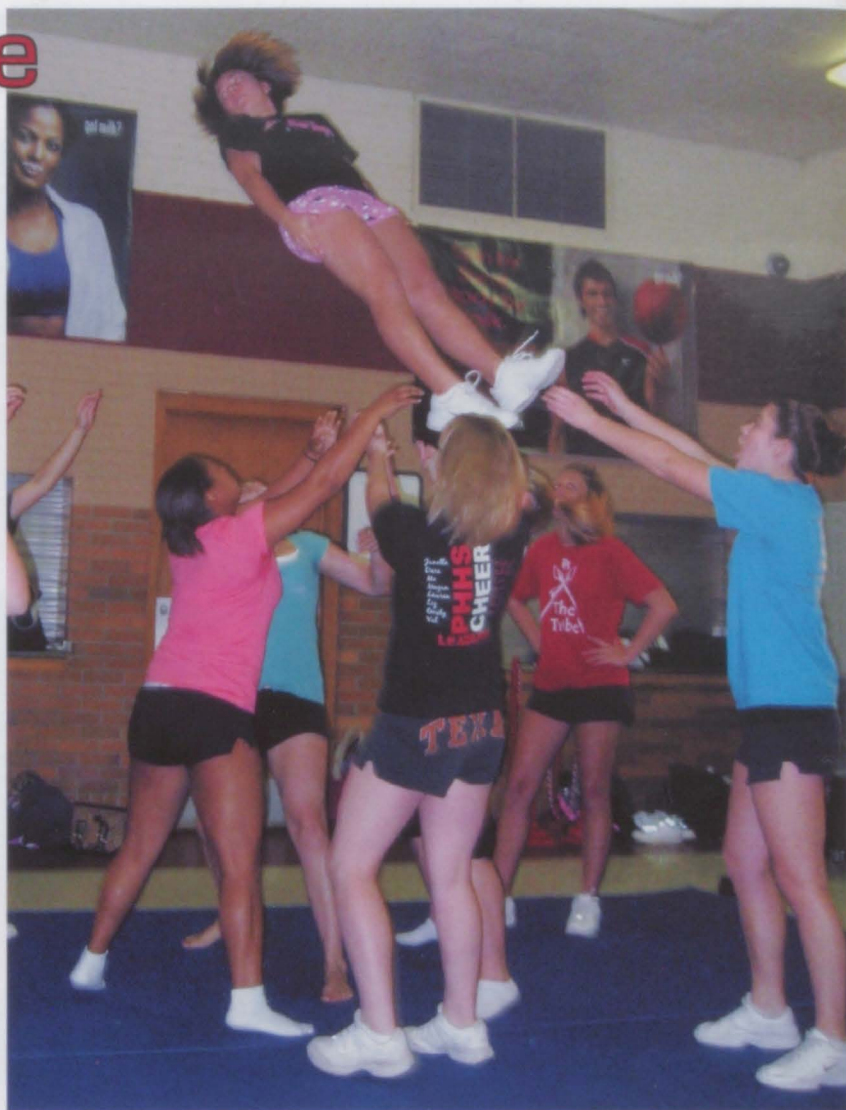

"I met a lot of new people and made a lot of life-time friends," Angeliea Griffin ('09) stated.

Junior Varsity cheered at all the JV Football games, and at the Varsity Football Homecoming game. "My favorite part of cheering is the games because everyone is hyped and excited," said Kacey Whitenack ('10).

Football Cheer was a new experience for the freshmen. "It's more challenging and fun," said Alexandria Bramer. Freshmen fundraised this year to buy new uniforms.

Spirit shined at all football games. "I liked the Northern game, there was so much fun and spirit," said Varsity Cheerleader Erika Kendrick ('10).

Freshmen & J.V.

Physical rush! "I chose football because it's my sport. I love the constant contact. I feel very good when I lay somebody out or make a sack. I enjoy hearing the crack on my pads or the eyes of my opponent when I hit," said Austin Boughner ('12).

While the Varsity team beat Northern, the JV did the next best thing; they ended the competition with a tie. The freshmen didn't fare as well, they took the loss.

JV came on strong in their battle against Port Huron Northern. For freshman one of the highlights was the game against Sterling Heights.

Student athletes found role models at both the amateur and professional level. For Jon Kemp it was Richard Mierendorff because "he never gives up and always does his best." Justin Black ('12) voted for "Peyton Manning because he is the best quarterback ever."

"My football role model is Reggie Bush because he stays out of trouble, and is a good running back," said Terez Watkins ('12').

According to JV Coach Mr. James Chapman, practices consisted of "the basic fundamentals of football techniques, offensive and defensive formations, positions, running plays and timing."

Scoring Touchdowns

With their pads and helmets on, the Varsity team kicked off the season with a bang--three victories in a row.

East Detroit was trounced in game one. The Big Reds defeated Anchor Bay for the first time in twenty-years.

In the big rivalry game, for the second year in a row the Varsity team defeated Northern to keep the Brick Fowler Trophy where it belongs, and most of all, the bragging rights for the year! Senior Christopher Tatti scored the game winning touchdown. Even though the rain would not stop, neither would the players.

Ending their winnig streak, they fell to Dakota, but they brought the score closer in the second half. After losing to Sterling Heights, both schools were tied for first place.

The Homecoming game was another well deserved victory with a score of 33-13 against Grosse Pointe South. That was the eleventh victory against South in sixty games.

In the last game of the season they faced Warren Woods Tower. For the second consecutive year, the Big Reds fought their way into a playoff position, but fell to Warren DelaSalle.

The season ended with a record of 7-3!

Timothy Bartlett ('09), holds up the Brick Fowler Trophy, won for the second year in a row.

Junior David Foster sprints down the field as he returns the kick off against East Detroit, to defeat them with a final score of 42-16.

Sprinting down the field, Marc Titus ('10) gets a block from Durrand Ashford ('09).

To score the winning touchdown, Christopher Tatti ('09) slips past Northern.

Keeping the ball, Quarterback Matthew LaForge ('10) charges down the field.

Breaking away, Christopher Tatti ('09) gets a block from Andrew Jowett ('09).

She Scores

Taking a Stand

Dribbling down the court, she shoots, she scores. The Freshmen started with 8 wins in a row! Lay-ups, rebounds, and free-throws were all dimensions of this year's Freshmen and Junior Varsity strategy.

Both teams had warm-ups before every practice. Jenal Ross ('12) exclaimed, "my favorite warm up is the star form, because we make the shape of a star and it makes us look like stars." Kaitlyn Roller ('12) said, "The warm-up I like best is the three on two, because it gets us ready to play, and helps us with our rebounds and dribbling."

Freshman Heather Weiss said, "My best game was the one against Northern, because each team, [Freshmen, Junior Varsity] won and we blew them out."

During Winter Break the teams took part in the L'Anse Creuse Tournament. The Freshmen team took first place and the Junior Varsity team took second.

Assistant Coach Ms. Shelby Bixler, of the Junior Varsity team, said, "They are a group of girls with an abundance of talent. We are a team with speed." What she loved most about coaching was "seeing the players improve as well as the team overall".

After stealing the ball, Darchelle Mitchell ('11) sprints down the court to take her jump shot.

Rock The Court

She shoots, she scores, right as the buzzer sounds!

The girls Varsity Basketball Team won their first game against rival, Port Huron Northern. The Big Reds had returning players along with the first freshman to start in recent years. Varsity used a combination of fast break opportunities, execution of offense and pressing defense which led them to a winning record. Due to their hard work in practice and teamwork the girls Varsity was able to improve their record from last year.

Adriana Jordan ('12) said, "I'm excited to be able to play on Varsity my freshman year and my AAU experience paid off."

Working hard was very important to team members, especially team captain Melissa Delano ('09). She stated, "This year's team is confident in each other which has led us to better teamwork on the court."

"As always, the Big Red girls displayed outstanding character, teamwork, and sportsmanship. I'm very proud of them and their accomplishments throughout the season", said the new Varsity coach, Mr. Jeremy Roseneau.

Standing at the line, Senior Hannah Jones shoots her free throw.

New Approaches

New Coaches

Freshmen Boys Basketball players met first year Boys Basketball Coach Mr. Carl Mueller. Up one level, new Coach Mr. Kevin Landshoot met Junior Varsity Boys Basketball players, and both teams hit the court with full force.

Coming together from all different schools, the Boys Freshmen Team had to learn how to play together as a team. "Basketball is fun, athletic, and you get to represent your school and get in shape," said freshmen player Tyler Vanbuskirk.

Coach Mr. Carl Mueller hoped he could bring something to the team. "I'm firm but VERY supportive of my athletes. I love the game and I really want to help fuel the Big Red Machine."

The most memorable moment for Ali Fayyad ('12) was, "When we made the game tying shot against Anchor Bay." For freshman Dylan Anglebrandt, his most memorable moment came at the start of the season. "We beat St. Clair by 26 and it was the first game."

Helping with the team were coach Mr. Kevin Landshoot, and assistant coaches Mr. Steve Gilbert and Mr. Ryan Gilbert.

"I hope I'll coach basketball every year until I retire or die," said Coach Mr. Carl Mueller.

Getting great air, Junior Varsity member Tahj King ('11) leaps to take the shot.

Up the Court Take it to the Net

Victory was sweet in the January match-up against South Lake.

It stayed sweet in an important game of the season was when the Big Reds took on Northern "because it's the most memorable," said Michael Johnson ('09), who led the team with thirteen points for a victory in the second meeting of the two teams.

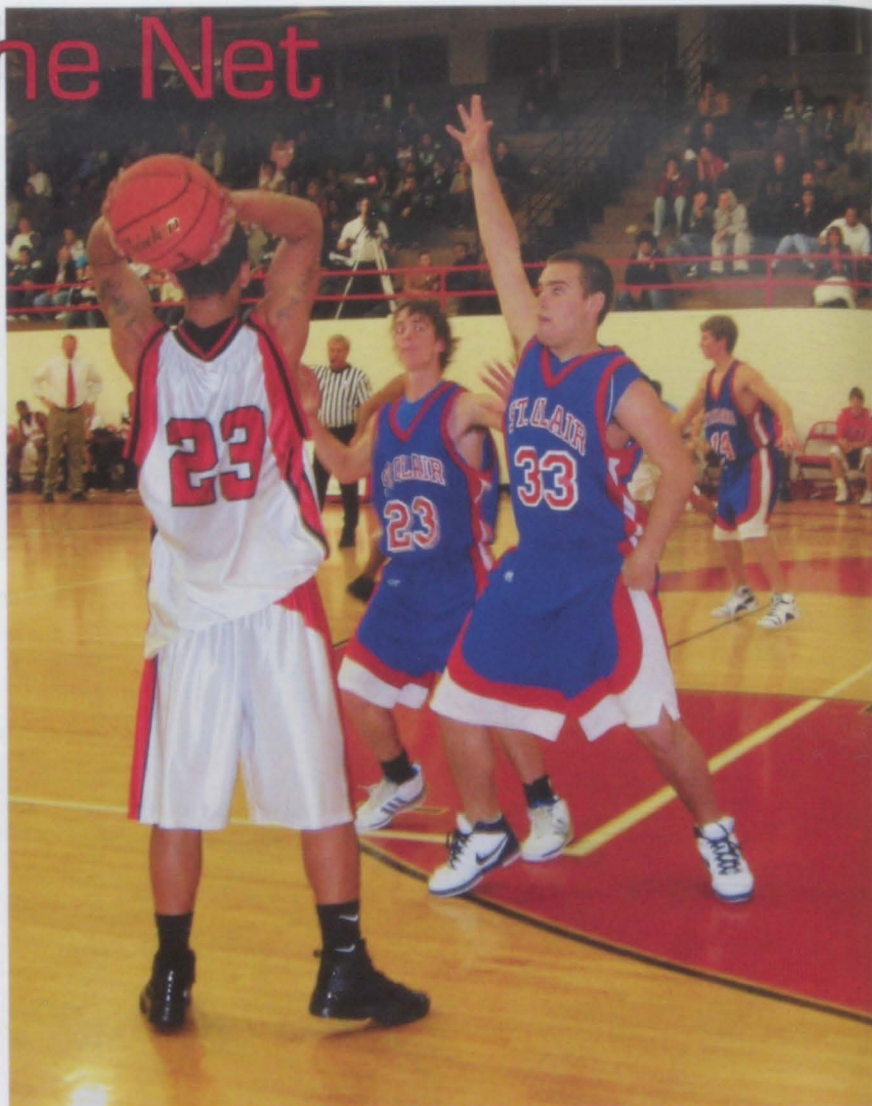

The players selected role models. Senior Durrand Ashford said, "My dad Tony Moncrief is my role model because he teaches me everything about sports and life. Also he's there whenever I need him and I know he always will be."

There were reasons why the guys enjoyed the team, and why they wanted to be there. Junior Brian Johnson said, "I like everything with offense such as the dribbling, shooting and passing."

A leader in assists was Durrand Ashford ('09). For Michael Lott ('09), his strength was in stealing the ball. Senior Michael Johnson grabbed the rebounds. Steven Sawher ('10) found the sweet spot for the three point shots, while senior Davon Hawkins racked up the points in baskets.

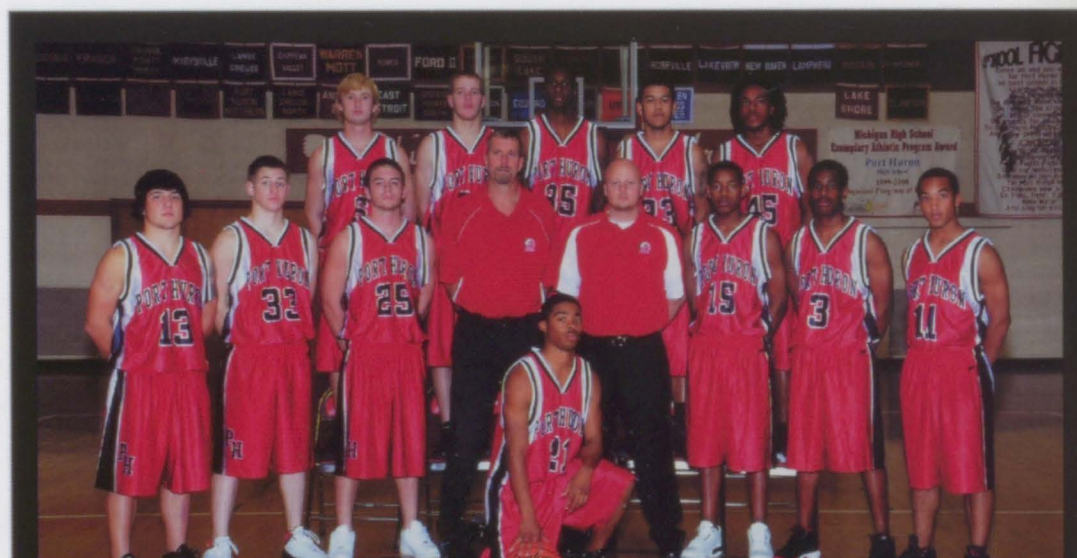

They practiced jump-shots, lay-ups and their three-pointers as they got ready for this year's Varsity Basketball Season.

Thrill of Victory

Decked out with a fresh look, the PHHS Boys Hockey Team was ready to take the ice. The loss of seniors and the addition of many freshmen combined to bring a renewed energy to the team. To complete the set up, players suited up in new jerseys featuring the Indian Chief logo.

Leading the way for the team were captains Trevor Baker ('09), and Andrew Jowett ('09). Coach Mr. Ben Pionk took command of the bench for the second year in a row.

After taking a tumble in their opening game against Brandon, the Big Reds were able to capitalize against Lake Fenton. They finished the game with six goals, while Nicholas Pitre ('11) got the win in net, allowing just two goals.

In the memory of Larry Manz, former Area Athletic Director for Port Huron Schools, the Big Reds took part in the annual Larry Manz Tournament at McMorran Arena. Taking place over the Thanksgiving holiday break, the event featured the first match-up against the Huskies. Unfortunately, the scoreboard would not favor the Big Reds, as the Huskies came away with the victory by a final score of 0-5.

Jumping Hurdles

With only four members, the Equestrian Team had a lot of hurdles to jump through this year.

Saddling up were Meghan Rock ('11), Kendra Ski ('11), Heather Verfaillie ('10) and Cassandra Deanda ('09).

To get ready for a meet, riders had to wash and band their horses. At night, blankets were used to keep their backs clean. They also had to trim them, and put their manes in pigtails. After the horses went for Showmanship, they got their hoofs painted and faces oiled.

To keep horses ready and healthy, they needed food, shots, and training.

Kendra Ski ('11) had been riding horses for 8 months and said, "I ride Fergie which is my show horse, and Si just kinda hangs around."

Heather Verfaillie had six horses: "Sahara, Max, Star, Apache, Sweetie, and Thunder," she said. The competitions they entered were Showmanship, Jumping, Keyhole, and Barrels. Cassandra Deanda rode Saddle Seat, but she's also been working on Dressage.

Depending where a horse was stabled, it cost anywhere from 700 to 1,000 dollars a month.

With her horse, Kendra Ski ('11) waits for her turn to ride bareback.

Tap-Out!

With a season that started away and stayed away until late January, the Big Reds hit opponents' mats with all they had.

Cody Smafield ('12) said, "I like wrestling because you have to be tough and know what you are doing."

Freshmen Justin Mitchell said, "I decided to join wrestling because I want to get stronger."

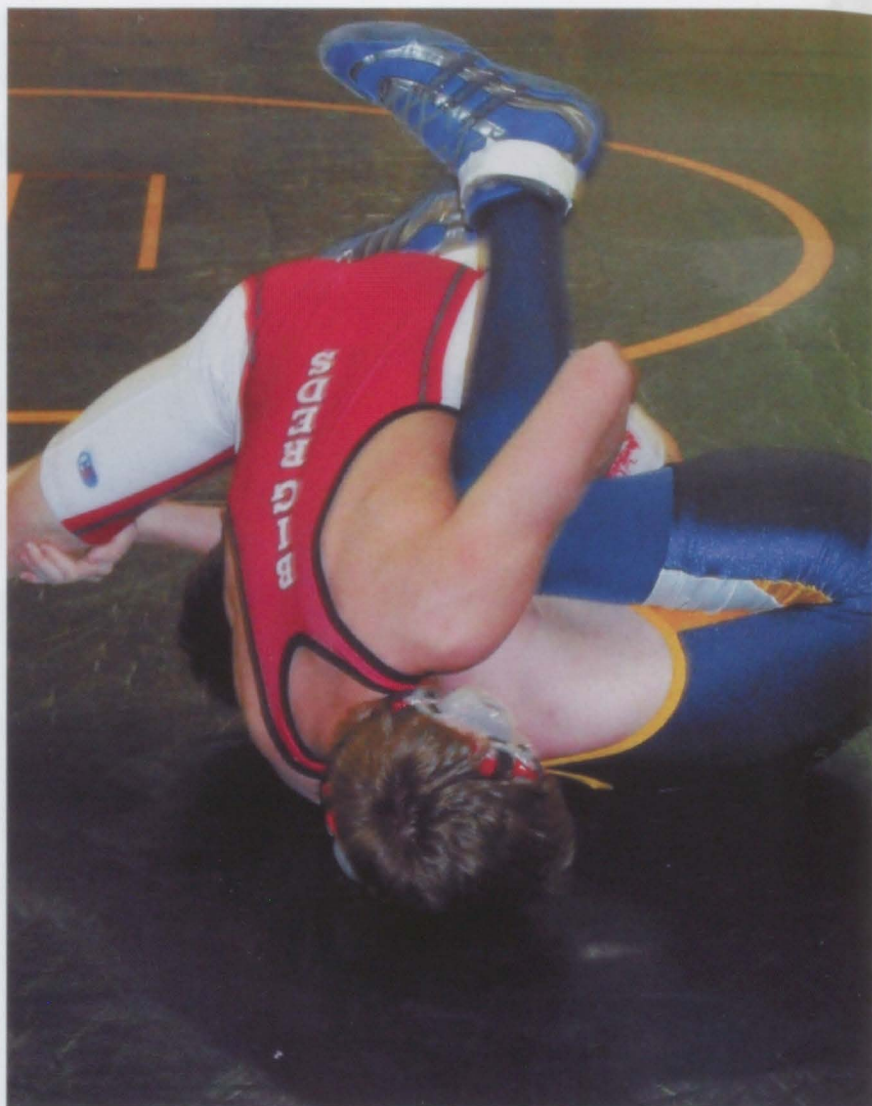

When they practiced after school they got stronger by doing up-downs, jumping jacks, and running the halls.

The guys and girls faced very tough opponents this season. Daniel Grinnell ('09) said, "My toughest opponent was a guy from Cros-Lex because he was a way more experienced wrestler, so he probably just toyed with me."

There were various moves such as: The Chicken Wing, Cross Face, Half Nelson, and Power Half. Michael LaForge ('11) said, "My favorite move is the power half, because it is an effective move and is easy to run."

Coach Mr. Dave Reno said, "We are a very young, inexperienced team. Our main goal this year is to gain knowledge and experience. We want to get better every time we step on the mat, and hard work and dedication will allow us to do that."

During the MAC Tournament Sean Boyd ('12) pins his opponent.

She's Got Spirit

Get Pumped

Do you have spirit? The Winter Cheer Team sure did. As the girls cheered on the boys basketball team this season they were also scheduled in competitions with other high schools.

Captain of the Junior Varsity squad was freshman Micaela McBride, "It's different, because you have to keep everyone together and organized. It was very nerve racking for our first competition. Everyone was really nervous and excited." Most of the cheerleaders had been cheering for a long time. Senior Amber Janderwski has cheered all four years as a Big Red, "I have been a dancer my whole life and thought I would enjoy it," she said.

The girls had different reasons for joining the cheerleading squad. Alexandra Tummons ('09) got hooked on spirit, "My friends and I all decided to try-out together, and I've loved it ever since." Ciara Francisco ('11) said, "Ever since I was little I've wanted to be a cheerleader; I've always been athletic and had a lot of spirit."

Some of the girls planned on cheering through-out high school. Jennifer Hubble ('11) said, "I love cheering I can't imagine NOT doing it; I hope to continue it through out the rest of my Big Red years."

Keeping the spirit, Varsity cheerleaders take the court for a performance.

Front and center, Alys-sa Slowinski ('10), and Shaquara Crawford ('09) lead the Varsity Squad.

Strike, Score, Win Bowling Form

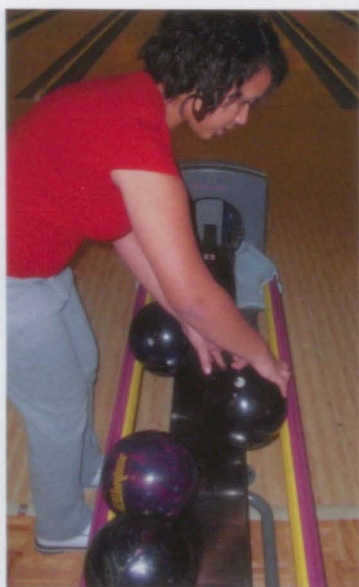

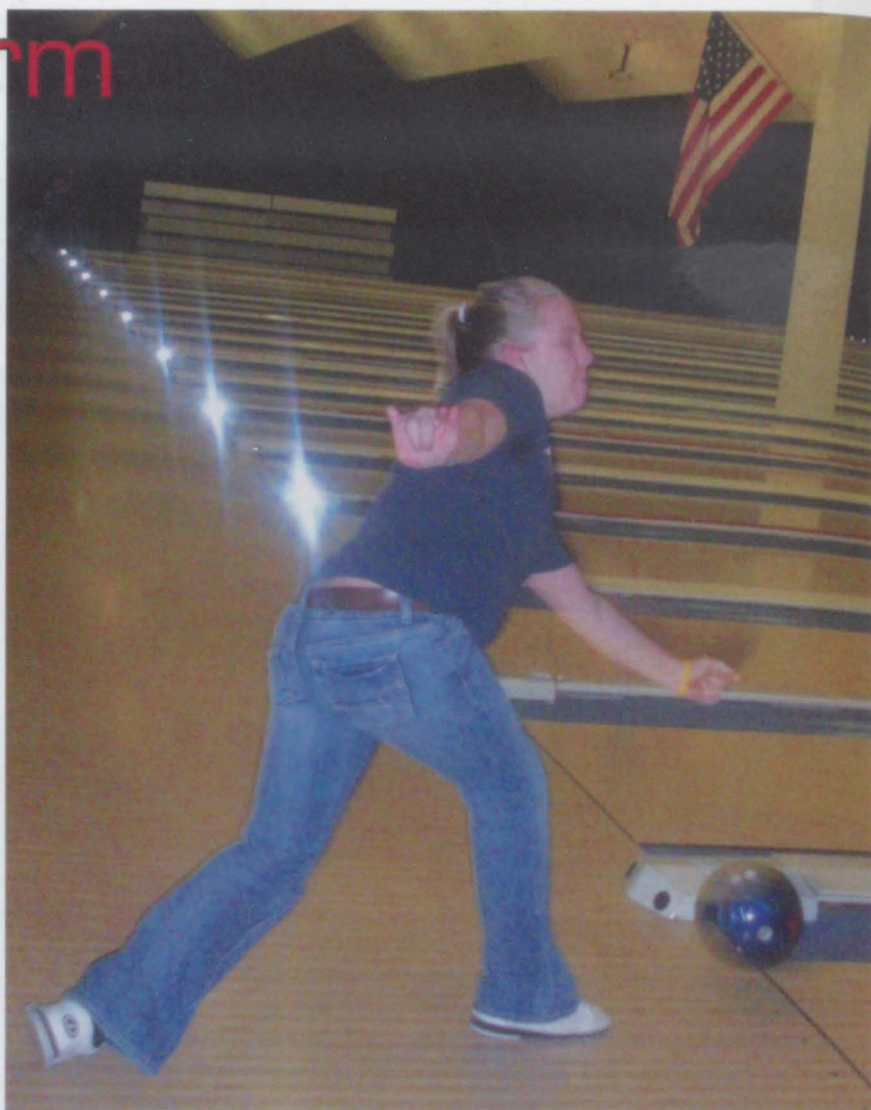

It may not have been a popularity contest, but the end result was the same. The Boys Bowling Team grew so large, that a Boys Junior Varsity team was added to accommodate all participants. For the Girls Varsity Bowling Team, it was status quo.

After the 2008 graduation, there was only one remaining Boys Varsity bowler. At try-outs, approximately twenty boys showed up, but only six spots were available on the Varsity level. With such a great number of interested bowlers, Coach Mr. Matt Langolf made the decision to add the Boys Junior Varsity team.

The Girls Varsity Team had just two returning bowlers who were on the team since their freshman year, and they kept the spirit going for the fourth year in a row with an encouraging vocal pat on the back of "BULLDOZER!" every time someone scored a strike. "I am the anchor for the Girls Varsity team, meaning that I am responsible for picking up the team when we have a bad frame. As a team we do our best to keep up the enthusiasm, but we have to work on our attitude," said senior Caitlyn Gamble.

Girls Varsity Captain Kacey Whitenack expressed that the teams wants "to get to regionals either as a team or as individuals."

During a Monday night practice, Senior Kylie Anger bowls at Port Huron Lanes.

In Memory

A City of Tradition

People from all over Port Huron and the surrounding areas gathered downtown to watch the annual Memorial Day Parade. The parade not only entertained but also honored veterans and soldiers.

The Big Red Marching Machine played favorites such as the Fight Song and All Star. They also performed Semper Paratus, The U.S. Air Force, The Caisson Song, and Anchors Aweigh to entertain the audience and commemorate the Armed Forces members.

War veterans in full uniform marched, while police cars and fire trucks dazzled the audience with lights and sirens.

After the procession through downtown, the parade ended at the World War II Memorial in Pine Grove Park. Spectators then gathered for a tribute and prayer that ended the ceremony.

Names of veterans from the Harrington Inn filled the poster, the veterans rode the trolley in the parade.

Present Day

Colonial Times

Rain or shine, citizens of the Blue Water area got a flashback to the 17th century for the annual Feast of the Ste. Claire.

Students from all over the area, mostly PHHS students, helped to make this event happen with the direction of former PHHS World History teacher Mr. Harry Burgess, co-founder of the event. "The feast is a great way to get kids and parents involved in America's early history periods," said co-founder Mrs. Rosaline Burgess.

Volunteers sold homemade baked goods, such as cookies and assorted pies. Also homemade root beer was served in colored glass bottles; it was a popular treat among the guests.

This year's events included Lacrosse games (put on by the Port Huron Lacrosse Team), fencing demonstrations, and a re-creation of a 17th century battle.

New Chance

Second Season

It was the start of triple over-time at the Allen County War Memorial in Indiana--game seven of the Turner Cup Finals, and the score was tied at 2. Just seconds later the Port Huron Icehawks season would come to a close, as the Fort Wayne Komets would score to take the championship. This was a scene that Icehawks' fans would relive all summer.

Revenge was the plan for this season's opening night, as the Icehawks took on the Komets in a rematch of the previous year's finals. The goal was not reached, as they fell by a final score of 6-2.

To start the construction of the roster, Coach Stan Drulia brought back a core of players from the previous season including: Jeremy Tucker, Kris Vernarsky, Rob Cowan, Kerry Bowman, Derek Merlini, Tab Lardner, Robert Snowball, Jeff Zehr, Larry Sterling, BJ Adams, Jamie Lovell, Jamie Carroll, and Chris Bogas.

Awaiting the shot, Nick Lindberg gets in front of the net to be ready for the rebound.

Getting ready for the face-off, Jason Chafe and Jason Selleke wait for the puck to be dropped.

On opening night, center Kris Vernarsky takes the draw against the Komets opponent.

While playing defense, Derek Merlini and Ian Turner guard the front of the net.

Nick Lindberg and Jamie Carroll wait for their linemate Jeff Zehr to set up the play.

In November, the Icehawks served dinner to fans for the Spaghetti on Ice fundraiser for the MDA.

Taking advantage of an open net, the Icehawks bury the puck for one of eight goals of the night.

While warming up for practice, the girls go end-to-end on the ice during a skating drill.

New and Old

Come Together

Out with the old, and in with the new--category of team that is.

After playing as a group consisting of girls from PHHS and Northern only, the Rebels Girls Hockey Team shifted to an under-19 travel squad. The decision for the change came after a low turn-out of interested members.

By opening up the roster, this allowed skaters from other high schools, and even those who had graduated, to join.

Calling McMorran Arena home, the girls practiced and defeated opponents such as Glacier Pointe, whom they beat by a final score of 8-4 in their opening game.

Once again Coach Mr. Ron Morris took on the duty of leading the girls through the very short season. The team did not choose any captains. "It's great to be back on the ice again" said Sophomore left wing Sadie Gilbert.

In order to practice their skating skills, the girls do laps around center ice.

Unveiled

Hidden Talents

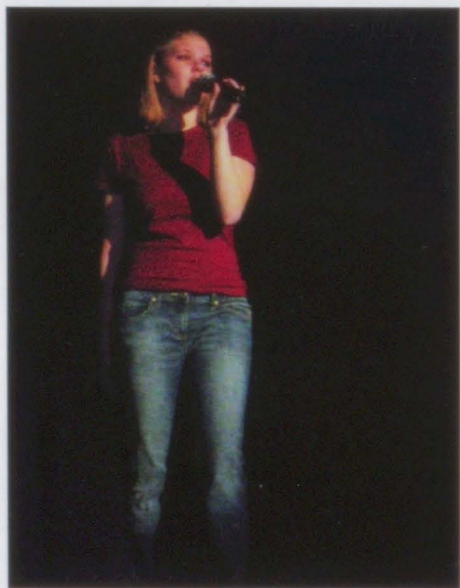

Socializing while munching on sandwiches and sweet cookies, both audience members and performers alike, relaxed before the start of the returning Talent Show.

As a new addition to this year's event, a Subway dinner was added to the festivities. Senior Lindsay Henderson said that the meal was, "simple and nice and I hope the tradition continues next year."

Another extra to the Talent Show was a new genre of dancing called "Crumping". Joshua Goodrich ('08) and David Fleury ('08) performed this dance for the audience's watchful eyes.

Spectators and performers both enjoyed the Talent Show. Sophomore Morgan Spalding said, "Jennifer Hubble's ('11) song was my favorite."

In The Spotlight

Port Huron Civic Theatre

Being on a stage was a thrill for many people. By participating in a Port Huron Civic Theatre production they were able to satisfy their hunger for the theater.

The Port Huron Civic Theatre has been providing theater entertainment since 1956. PHCT has put on shows such as Charlie and the Chocolate Factory, Pocahontas, West Side Story, and Wonderland.

Children, teenagers, and adults either acted or worked backstage. Being in a PHCT production required hours of practice and dedication. The end product though, was something to marvel at.

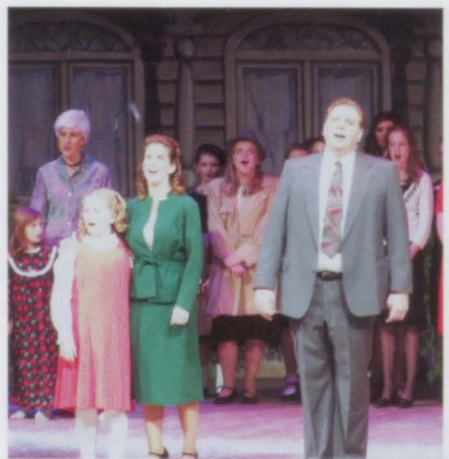

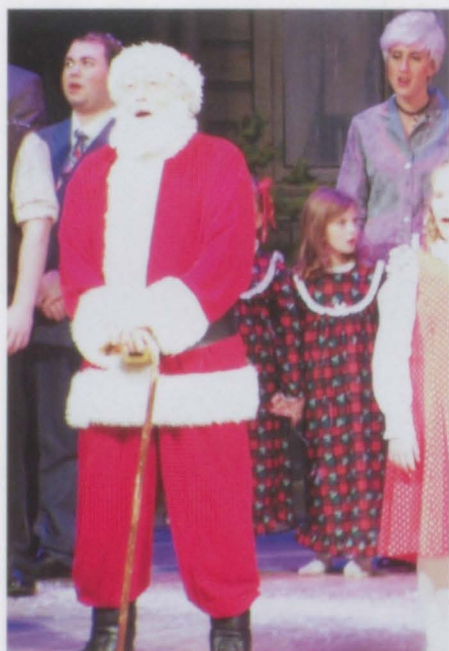

For the 2008-2009 season, the Port Huron Civic Theatre showed real talent with the play Miracle On 34th Street, and the musicals The Jungle Book Kids, Sweeney Todd: The Demon Barber of Fleet Street, and Gypsy.

For the finale, Santa Claus and the rest of the cast come out to sing a Christmas song.

The cast of Miracle On 34th Street spread Christmas cheer with a song.

Kris Kringle is led off to the asylum by doctors; one of them played by Sophomore Kristin Kinney.

Mr. Macy gives his testimony while a group of citizens watch during the 2008 production of Miracle On 34th Street.

A group of people gather at the court hearing for Kris Kringle, the supposed Santa Claus.

The Arabian female and male perform for Clara, using lifts and difficult ballet moves for her amusement.

Acrobats start off their routine for Clara with cartwheels, difficult flips, and handstands.

The Mirliton Soloist finishes her routine with a curtsy in The Nutcracker.

The Cavalier re-enacts his fight with the King Mouse for the people of the Land of Sweets.

Christmas Magic

The Nutcracker

Enfused with a mixture of ballet, acrobatics, and ballroom dancing, The Nutcracker, based on the story by E.T. Hoffman and music by Peter Ilyich Tchaikovsky, has been a timeless Christmas tradition.

The Nutcracker was produced by the Nutcracker Ballet Theatre Company (based in Port Huron), and has been in production for nineteen years.

The ballet told the story of Clara, who gets a nutcracker for a Christmas present, and is whisked off to the magical Land of Sweets. Once there, she meets many interesting characters, who dance and perform for her amusement.

The people who participated with the NBTC surrendered many hours to practice and prepare for the final performance in December.

The elaborate costumes and dances made The Nutcracker a spectacular experience.

Mr. Scott Magneson and his wife prepare to take a bow after their performance as the Mother and Father.

As the Head Chinese dancer Kristen Langolf ('10) performs in The Nutcracker.

Shows Spirit

Big Red Pride

Pepped and ready, excited and anxious is how most Big Reds entered the school year.

The first Varsity Football game was held before school started, and The Tribe was dressed in red and white to support the team.

Freshmen had their Orientation--The Big Red Wave--one week before school started. They toured the school, learned the dress code through a "What Not to Wear" fashion show, and met upperclassmen and other incoming freshmen.

"The Big Red Wave made the transition into high school less stressful," said Micaela McBride ('12).

With The Tribe in the stands supporting the teams, and the freshmen in their classes, Big Red pride showed with academic excellence and athletic victories.

Freshmen and mentors line up to participate in a Stereotypes Session to learn not to categorize people.

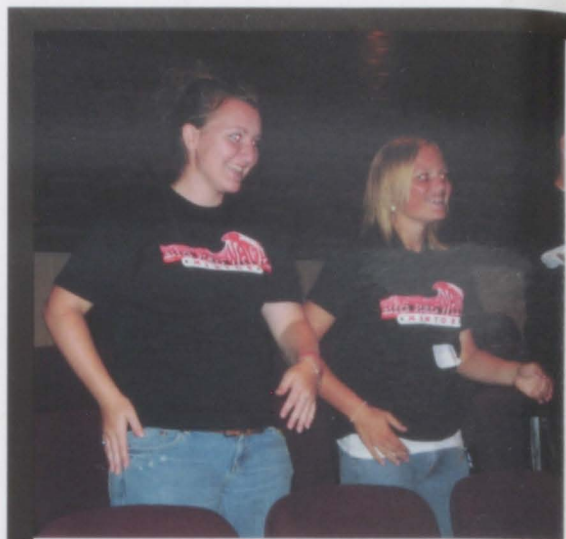

With painted faces, juniors Michael Bouldrey and Melissa Jex show their red and white pride.

Shirley ('09) and Mysti ('11) Sanders bring a sisterly perspective to the spirit of The Tribe.

For lunch, Mr. Ken Semelsberger grills the hot dogs for Big Red Wave mentors and freshmen to eat.

Senior Mentors Samantha Warsalla and Katrina Oberski interact with other mentors for icebreakers on Orientation Day.

Seniors Sabrina Visga and Elizabeth Santo get interviewed by a Times Herald reporter on their take of BRW.

At the Homecoming Game, Juniors Tyler Duncan, Jamie Lester, and Jeremy Fry get students pepped up.

To get to know their fellow classmates better, freshmen play an icebreakers game.

Terez Watkins ('12) and Winslow Chapman ('12) stepped up to the challenge, as they sing and dance for the students.

BRW Mentors take freshmen for a tour of the school, so they are better acquainted with it before their first day of classes.

Seniors Brittany Hernandez and Kristi Radatz, Polar Bear Plunge survivors, once again endure the cold of this frigid winter.

Water Plunge

Chilled for Charity

Splashing into the icy, cold water of Lake Huron, Big Reds braved below freezing temperatures to participate in the Polar Bear Plunge to earn money for the Softball Team through the Kiwanis Club's annual event.

The teens from PH who jumped in were from the Softball Team and Ms. Kris Pettengill's Government classes, since she offered one point for every dollar they raised.

The Kiwanis Club, which sponsored this little bit of madness, is an organization that raises money for local charitable groups, scholarships for college students, and grants for area students to travel to foreign countries as exchange students.

Melissa Delano ('09) who raised $31 for the Softball Team said, "My favorite part would have to be seeing all the people that came. Some were dressed up--a gorilla, the Grinch, or guys dressed as girls."

Senior Kristi Radatz earned the most money for the Big Reds, bringing in over 90 dollars for the cause.

Kylie Anger ('09), Lisa Kendrick ('09), Ms. Chris Pettengill, Charlie Jansen, Kiah Dietlin ('09), Shaquara Crawford ('09), Viola Dietlin ('12) Kristi Radatz ('09), and Brittany Hernandez ('09) get ready to plunge into the water.

Chilly Festivities

Cold Weather

Brrr, it was cold outside, but that did not stop people from flocking to the Chilly Fest at Vantage Point and McMorran. The fest was held over the weekend of January 22-25 and drew about 5,000 people to the downtown area. Activities to take part in included a chilli tasting from Cheli's Chili Bar, which brought its specialties from its Detroit location. Most the activities were free such as; ice skating and viewing the sled dogs who were also available for petting.

Individuals dressed as penguins entertained the children as they strolled through the streets.

The snow mobile races were the highlight of the weekend for most people. The snow mobiles captivated people with their sling-shot fast speeds, up to 102 miles per hour. Chelsea Nicefield ('09) said, "I went to watch the races and was amazed at how fast they moved".

Light up exhibits that corresponded with the Chilly Fest theme graced Desmond's Landing.

Local organizations added to the festivities by sponsoring a penguin that expressed their message.

Penguins walked through the downtown area to talk to children and take pictures with people.

Penguins were spotted all over the city, entertaining children and decorating the downtown area.

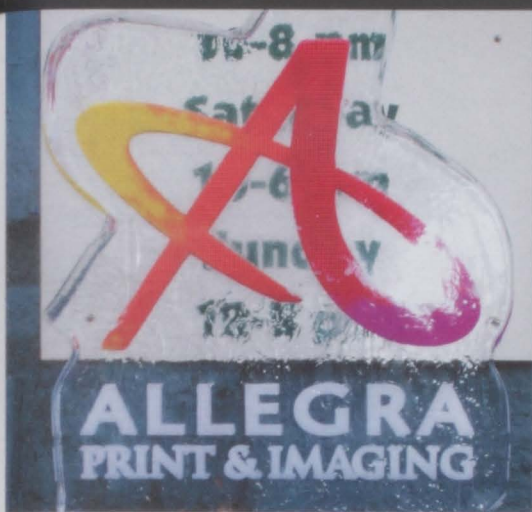

Backyard Soaps and More enhanced their store front with an intricate butterfly.

E&A Credit Union donated to the cause by sponsoring an ice sculpture with their name inscribed on it.

A snow mobile racer prepares to mount his vehicle, but first it has to be revved up.

Allegra Screen Printing exhibits a unique ice sculpture by adding color to their already original logo.

Two penguins dressed to the T and having tea, caused many strollers to stop and stare.

Snow mobiles were on display at the snow mobile races for fans to admire and test.

A wedding dress ice sculpture graced Georgio's Bridal Shop and drew customers inside.

Mosher's Jewelers put an angel on display to compliment their auto-graphed penguin.

Enhancing a downtown storefront, a snowman holding a map of Michigan let children see their state.

In the front of Blue Waters Jewelers an ice sculpture of a man proposing to a woman enchanted viewers.

Chilly Fest and Ice Fest

Win the Silver

Taking the Gold

During the month of January, hockey fans of the Blue Water Area got a healthy dose of the game with the 47th Annual Silver Stick Finals.

The tournament featured Pee Wee, Bantam, Squirt, and Atom teams from all over North America.

Michigan was the host of the first and third weekends of play, while the second was in Canada. A women's tournament was the focus of the fourth and final weekend, which was also held in Canada.

Altogether, Port Huron saw seven local teams take part in the prestigious event. The Port Huron Flags were the city's lone team in the first weekend, making it to the semi-finals before falling to Highland Hills (Colorado) who would go on to win the finals.

For their accomplishments, winners received gold medals, and got the chance to skate with the Silver Stick.

Preparing for the face-off, the Toronto Nationals take the draw against the Toronto Marborols.

Skating into the corner, the Toronto Marborols Number 44 goes after the puck.

During the championship game, Toronto Nationals Number 18 skates in the Neutral Zone.

With a defender at his side, the Toronto Nationals forward skates with the puck.

After winning the Championship, Highland Hills (Colorado) raises their trophy before skating with the Silver Stick.

Going for the puck, the Nationals' forward takes a hit from the Marborols defender.

After the final buzzer, players from the Missasauga Braves shake hands with the Highland Hills Jaguars.

After winning the face-off, the Toronto Marborols move into the attacking zone.

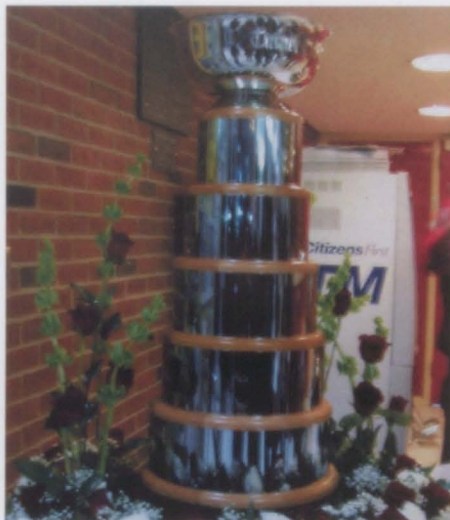

With enthusiasm, players from the Toronto Marborols celebrate after scoring a goal.

In a scrum along the boards, players fight for the puck with teammates looking on.

Bearing the new design, the Turner Cup would eventually be awarded to the Fort Wayne Komets.

Polished Up

Proof of Excellence

In the game of hockey, players in the National Hockey League compete for one of the most prestigious trophies in all of sports; the Stanley Cup.

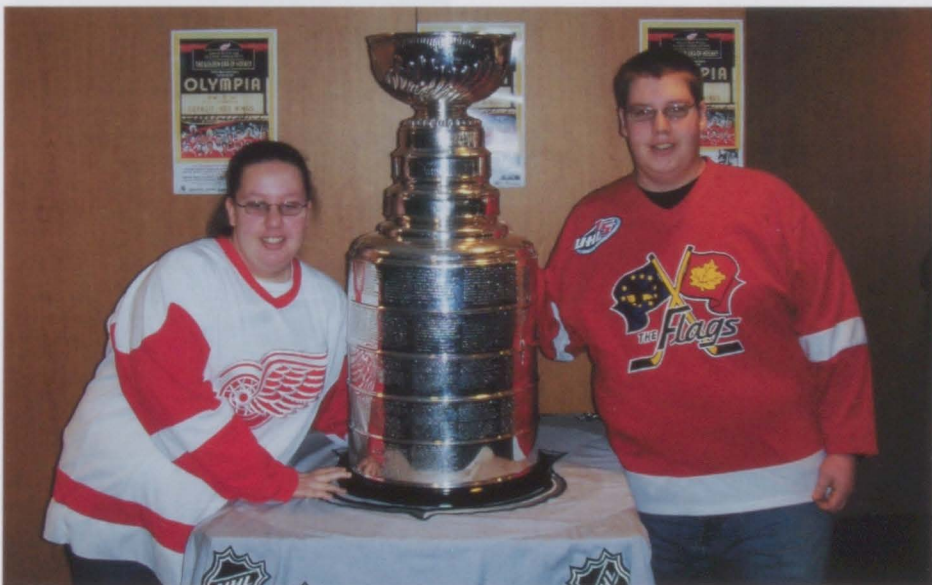

The International Hockey League, the home of the Port Huron Icehawks, presents the winner of the championship with the Turner Cup. The team that finishes the season with the best record is awarded with the Huber Trophy.

Thousands of people in the Blue Water Area got their chance to see all three of these spectacular awards.

During an Icehawks game, both the Turner Cup and the Huber Trophy were on display for the fans to see.

On January 17, 2009, more than 5000 fans lined up in the McMorran Auditorium, and down the sidewalk, for the over two hour wait to get pictures with the Stanley Cup.

During an Icehawks game, the Huber Trophy sits on display in the South Concourse.

On a day filled with hockey festivities, Senior Jessica Koehn, and Sophomore Bradley Koehn, stood in line for over two hours to get the chance to see Lord Stanley in person.

School Lunch

Brown Bag Fun

"Lunch is a time when students can strengthen their friendships," said Brendan Kinney ('09). The main part of lunch is the socializing and hanging out with friends. Most students consider lunch to be their favorite part of the day. "Lunch is a time to have fun and be loud." said Breana Valdez ('09).

Depending on a student's fourth hour class, they either had A, B, or C lunch. Sophomore Kayla Flanagan said, "This year I didn't have lunch with all my old friends, so I decided to sit with new people and make new friends."

PHHS students could either bring their own lunch from home, buy something in the cafeteria, or the student managed store, The Trading Post. Besides eating and socializing the Media Center was also open at lunches for students to look at or return books.

Hordes of students gather in the cafeteria to socialize and eat their food during lunch.

Some students prefer to hangout in the hall rather than the cafeteria waiting for the bell to ring.

Keenan Beals ('11) and Nathan Ganhs ('11) enjoy their sandwiches during their lunch period.

Shannon Brown ('09) takes money from Katherine Webb ('11) in The Trading Post during lunchtime.

Girls Football

Powder Puff

"Hut,Hut,Hike!" For the first time in Big Red history girls from every grade came together and organized a fun filled Powder Puff Football competition.

Freshmen and Sophomores united to compete with the Juniors, who came out victorious. The winner of that game went against Seniors to see who would claim bragging rights. Excited about the win, the Juniors prepared to face the Seniors. Though exhausted from their first game Juniors fought hard, but were defeated by the seniors 32-12. Coach Robinson and Coach Tatti helped make it a major turnout.

Senior teammates take a break from the Powder Puff game before securing a win.

Lined up and ready, the Juniors prepare to take on the Seniors in the final game of the day.

The seniors of the Powderpuff girls show off their new team shirts, while they huddle for a picture.

Supporting the Senior Powderpuff team, seniors Phillip Gouin and Alan Ellery, give thumbs up.

Accepting her medal, sophomore Valerie Farley smiles with triumph at her win.

Along with Valerie Farley ('11), Junior Ronald Monzo and former students Micheal Cribbs and Matt Phil-

A Champion

Softball player. Varsity Cheerleader. Sophomore Valerie Farley is an all around athlete. When not involved with sports at school, she enjoys boxing at her family's gym.

She recently won an award at the National Junior Olympics. "For that tournament I was in the gym 7 days a week with a minimum of 2 hours per day, working hard, thinking that I'm training better than my opponent."

Valerie fought for the Big Dog Boxing Club. "I've been around boxing all my life," she said. Jim Smedley, Valerie's step-father, was a professional boxer in the U.S. Marine Corps.

She celebrated winning the National Junior Olympics and The Outstanding Female Award by having a surprise party thrown for her by her parents at the Big Dog Boxing Club.

"I also got to feel important in the community knowing that I can make a change."

Putting on their game faces, members of The Big Dog Boxing Gym pose for a quick picture. Athletes of all ages are welcome members.

Things sure look different from inside the locker as David Fournier ('11) found out.

A Matter of PERSPECTIVE

As second semester began, the focus shifted from college recruiters to financial aid presentations, New Year's resolutions, Senior Activities, Mid-Winter Break, Spring Break, and ultimately, Summer Vacation.

From each student's point of view, the year was full of extras. For example, a new organization, the Writing Club was formed. After a year's intermission, the Battle of the Bands was back. Totally new was the addition of PH Idol, the Big Red version of the national extravaganza. Singing ABC by The Jackson Five, Jordan Moncrief walked away with the 100 dollar prize.

Big news was the super long winter. Regardless of an individual's perceptions of Michigan's weather, everybody agreed that this winter was crazy. With a total snowfall well over double the average for the year, winter sports thrived. Temperatures dipped lower than the average as well, so winter fashion included layers, layers, and layers. Because of Mother Nature's generosity, PH students and faculty were given two Weather Day gifts before February.

Of course, spring broke through. From beginning to end, it was a year of change.

Can't change the weather? Then enjoy it, like sophomores Hope Telfer, Megan Hillman, and Jessica Swarts during mid-winter break.

While Big Reds said goodbye to Athletic Director Mr. Ken Semelsberger, they said hello to former PHHS teacher, new AD Mr. Greg Wagner.

Colophon 2009

"A Matter of Perspective" is the 104th volume of Port Huron High School's yearbook, The Student.

Six hundred yearbooks were sold, each containing 208 pages of full color photographs. All of the photos with the exception of team pictures and mugs were digitally shot and digitally cropped by PHHS students.

For the font, all headlines were in AHJ Micro Square, and the font used for all copy and captions was AHJ Sans size 10 pt.

Page layouts, cover, and end sheets were created by Kristi Radatz ('09), Travis McBride ('10), and Jessica Koehn ('09). at the Herff Jones Yearbook Summer Camp with the help of a Herff Jones artist.

The theme "A Matter of Perspective" was selected and developed over the summer at Herff Jones Yearbook Workshop at Michigan State University in June.

The book was printed by the Herff Jones Yearbook Company in Edwardsville, Kansas using Smyth Sewn binding. The trim size was 8 1/2 by 11.

Mrs. Mary Jane Zauner was the advisor.

Special thanks to all the students, staff and administrators, and all of the businesses and patrons that made this year's book a success.
